The Fendi Set

FROM BLOOMSBURY TO BORGHESE

PHOTOGRAPHY BY NIKOLAI VON BISMARCK
TEXT BY KIM JONES

An enchanting exploration of the creative inspiration of the Bloomsbury Set on Kim Jones's artistic direction of the fashion house Fendi.

In September 2020, Kim Jones was named head of Fendi's couture and womenswear, marking a new era for the Italian brand. This publication examines Jones's relationship to the legendary Bloomsbury Set: the early twentieth-century community of British writers, intellectuals, and artists, including Virginia Woolf, Duncan Grant, and Vanessa Bell, who inspired the collection and his creative process.

Enriched by ethereal photographs by Nikolai von Bismarck, this book spotlights the iconic landmarks of the Bloomsbury Set and Fendi. Beginning with Charleston House, Knole House, and Sissinghurst Castle in England, then traveling to the set of haute couture in Paris, the volume comes full circle at Rome's Villa Medici and Villa Borghese—where the histories of Fendi and the Bloomsbury Set meet. Diverse photographic methods such as Polaroid, traditional film, and Super-8 film stills bring Jones's creations to life, as well as reflect the Bloomsbury Set's experimental techniques, while his eternal muses, including Christy Turlington, Demi Moore, Gwendoline Christie, Kate Moss, and Naomi Campbell, conjure the poetry of the present. With letters, diary entries, and excerpts from Bloomsbury members, this exquisite book will appeal to aficionados of fashion, literature, and photography.

Fendi is an Italian fashion brand established in Rome in 1925. Kim Jones is the creative director of Dior Men and the artistic director of Fendi's couture and womenswear. Nikolai von Bismarck is a photographer specializing in portraiture, reportage, and fashion. Mark Hussey is a Bloomsbury Set scholar at Pace University. Jerry Stafford is a writer and the creative director of Première Heure.

AN ABC OF THE FASHION,
LIFE, AND INSPIRATIONS
OF YVES SAINT LAURENT

EDITED BY MARTINA MONDADORI AND

ISSA, CAROLINE LOEB, MARIAN MCEVOY,

The world's leading authorities on fashion and design celebrate the 60th anniversary of YSL's first runway presentation with a lexicon that includes many images from the designer's extraordinary archives.

Yves Saint Laurent (1936–2008) is credited with reviving French haute couture in the 1960s, with making ready-to-wear reputable, and with using non-European cultural references. In addition to the kaleidoscope of images in this book, a coterie of tastemakers have supplied listings that encompass YSL's style inspirations (C is for Costumes, as exemplified by the Russian theme of the famed autumn-winter 1976–77 collection; T is for Tuxedo, which the designer initially referenced with his 1965 “Le Smoking”) and important facets of his life (J is for Jardin Majorelle, the garden of the couturier's para-disiacal retreat in Marrakech; R is for Rive Gauche, the bohemian, chic neighborhood of Paris where the YSL boutique is situated and also the name of the house's famous perfume launched in 1970). This distillation and celebration of the designer's life reveals the inner world of a twentieth-century master.

Martina Mondadori is the founder of Cabana magazine. Stephan Janson is a fashion designer. Madison
Cox is the president of the Pierre Bergé–Yves Saint

Whiz Limited

THE FINEST OF TOKYO STREET

WHIZ LIMITED/HIROAKI SHITANO
FOREWORD BY HIROSHI FUJIWARA

The first monograph on the Japanese streetwear brand Whiz Limited, this book showcases the last 20 years of the brand's design and collaborations with streetwear's most iconic players.

Whiz Limited is a Japanese streetwear brand established in 2000 by Hiroaki Shitano. With a following in Japan as well as Hong Kong and mainland China, Shitano has become something of a cult figure, as one of the new generation of streetwear designers influenced by Hiroshi Fujiwara.

Consisting originally of handmade, printed tees, the label has since expanded to include a complete range of streetwear infused with an eccentric Japanese flair. Shitano was raised in the entertainment district of Shinjuku, and this is reflected in the clothing's distinctly downtown urban vibe and predominantly dark color palette.

Chronicling the history of the brand, alongside some of Whiz's most prolific projects to date, this book features beautiful, newly shot photographs of a long list of collaborations with streetwear icons, including Hiroshi Fujiwara/Fragment, Mastermind, Stüssy, A Bathing Ape®, Bristol, Bountyhunter, M&M, Kappa, New Era, Disney, Hello Kitty, G-Shock, Peanuts, Porter, The North Face, Marmot, First Down, and the estate of Keith Haring.

This book also features an impressive archive of the brand's iconic sneaker designs, boasting collaborations with heavy hitters like Mita sneakers, Adidas, New Balance, Asics, Puma, Reebok, Mizuno, Converse, and Ugg, making it a must-have for sneakerheads and lovers of streetwear style alike.

Hiroaki Shitano is a designer based in Tokyo and the founder of Whiz. Hiroshi Fujiwara is a streetwear pioneer and the founder of Fragment.

i-D

THE FIRST FORTY YEARS

I-D MAGAZINE

i-D began as a fanzine dedicated to the street style of punk-era London in 1980 and quickly earned its position at the vanguard of fashion and style, abiding by the premise of “originate—don’t imitate.” This anniversary volume is the ultimate tribute to the irreverent and forward-thinking magazine that revolutionized not only the world of fashion publishing but fashion itself.

Over the 40 years since its launch, i-D has grown from a hand-stapled zine to one of the world’s leading international style titles with two million Instagram followers. Founded by Terry Jones in 1980, i-D began as a chronicle of style and attitude as much as a fashion bible, and over the years it has kept to that ethos, in the process becoming a nurturing ground for generations of fashion talents, from David Sims to Juergen Teller, Edward Enninful to Wolfgang Tillmans, Tyler Mitchell to Harley Weir.

This celebratory volume commemorates the 40th anniversary of i-D through the prism of different cultural eras, with each chapter focusing on a decade of the magazine’s history and featuring a mix of original rephotographed spreads from the magazine, reprinted text pieces, archival imagery, covers, and new essays exploring both the history of i-D and the wider cultural contexts of the era it was created in. It’s a magazine that has given Greta Thunberg, Madonna, Naomi Campbell, and Sonic the Hedgehog their first covers; that invented the emoticon; and that, across 40 years and 500 cover winks, has had one defining message: that fashion should be inclusive, fun, diverse, and—always—original.

Since punk-era London in 1980, i-D has launched the careers of some of the most innovative and influential talent in the world. By constantly reinventing itself, i-D has built its reputation on being a consistent source of inspiration in fashion culture. i-D prides itself on being the voice of a generation, the voice of the disenfranchised and the under-represented, the platform for those who have something to say.

Photographie: Christian Dior by Brigitte Niedermair

PHOTOGRAPHY BY BRIGITTE NIEDERMAIR
TEXTS BY OLIVIER GABET, MARIA GRAZIA
CHIURI, BRIGITTE LACOMBE,
MARTINO GAMPER, AND MARCELLO JORI

A unique collection of photographs by Brigitte Niedermair, celebrating her original, creative collaboration with the House of Dior.

Informed by her parallel paths as an artist and a photographer, Brigitte Niedermair expands the conventions and biases of the fashion image system. Her work focuses on representations of women's bodies in art and culture, with deeply constructed images and striking compositions that make for a distinctive style.

This volume explores the remarkable relationship between Dior and Niedermair's aesthetic, resulting in photographs radiating a strong sense of unconventional femininity. The first section is devoted to the collaboration throughout the recent years, followed by a portfolio of exclusive images of historical and iconic Christian Dior creations. Captured with an analogic, classical technique in a five-by-four-inch format—which was used during photography's early beginnings—42 pieces from Dior archives are photographed twice, with each version of the image offering a unique perspective and revealing hidden details, such as the construction of the designs. With the principal essay by Olivier Gabet and contributions by Dior's creative director, Maria Grazia Chiuri, and artists and friends of Niedermair, this beautifully crafted book offers an extraordinary look into one of today's most fascinating creatives.

Brigitte Niedermair is an Italian photographer alternating artistic research with fashion photography. Her works are included in private collections, museums, and public institutions. Olivier Gabet is the director of the Musée des Arts Décoratifs (MAD) in Paris. Maria Grazia Chiuri is the creative director of Dior. Brigitte Lacombe is a French photographer. Martino Gamper is an Italian designer. Marcello Jori is an Italian visual artist and designer.

VNGRD

TEXTS BY VIRGIL ABLOH, MARCELO BURLON,
ERIK BRUNETTI, AND GIORGIO DI SALVO

This book serves as a retrospective of the Milan-based clothing brand VNGRD, created by designers and artists at the heart of the city's underground scene.

VNGRD is a clothing brand created in Milan in 2005 as the natural creative expression of a group of designers and artists who lived at the heart of the city's underground for years.

With the creative direction of Giorgio Di Salvo—one of the two co-founders—and a mixture of extreme graphic design and unprecedented product research for the time, VNGRD quickly gained cult status, racking up collaborations with brands like Stüssy, SUPER, FUCT, and Slam Jam. It came to be recognized by the likes of Kanye West, also sowing the seeds that gave rise to the Octopus Brand.

Thanks to a naïve, uneducated stance on clothing design and the firm refusal to obey any commercial habits in a world that was transitioning from a traditional model to the current ultra-connected landscape, VNGRD challenged everything and connected many of the people who would go on to become protagonists of the zeitgeist.

This is a comprehensive archive of the brand's graphic and design work, with never-before-seen pieces and behind-the-scenes looks. Featuring contributions from many of the friends and collaborators they have encountered during their journey, the original VNGRD team has produced a book that celebrates the history and heritage of the brand, demonstrating how its vanguardist attitude stood the test of time and predicted many of today's trends, inspiring the prime movers of the clothing world (and beyond).

Virgil Abloh is a fashion designer and entrepreneur of the brand Off-White and artistic director of Louis Vuitton menswear collection. Marcelo Burlon, born in Patagonia, is the creative mind behind the label County of Milan. Erik Brunetti is an American artist and designer founder of the brand FUCT. Giorgio Di Salvo is a multi-faceted creative based in Milan. He has created iconic garments for the likes of County of Milan and is currently the owner of United Standard.

CHOPARD + ZAGATO

FOR MORE: THE 4th quarter century, Chopard's little Miglia collection led the way for classic understated wristwatches, and although the limited-edition Miglia Miglia Zegato (1,000 pieces, just in your gold and DLC-treated stainless steel, just in all DLC-treated stainless steel) is a departure from the core collection, as a collaboration with the Italian luxury auto-design studio . . . well, it just makes Produced with Wilson-based bodywork, specialist Zagato, this focus into time mechanics was truly a collaborative effort: Chaparral created the "engine" (a vial-winding chronograph movement), while Zagato influenced the design of the "bodywork" and "interior" (the case and dial, respectively). The expos watch came out in black I.E.C.-cased steel or a two-tone steel version with a rose-gold/brushed-steel and quartz beating the 14-hour tourbillon, and most sport the Zagato logo on the case back gold-plated.

WHAT'S SO ALLURING about cars as watches is the level of meticulous design, engineering and service later behind the manufacture of each. They're both investments quizzically passion and emotion, heritage and futurism—vintage models are sought after like old firearms, while modern innovation ensures a steady evolution into the present and beyond. There's no limit to the connective tissue inherent to each.

So, it makes sense that this is the third curated edition of DAVE TIME in under a decade. Automotive-inspired watches have been coming out, with equal deference given to the breathtaking accomplishments of the past and the innovations of the current moment. That's the remarkable case DAVE TIME tells.

It goes without saying that the partial-to-fully vintage Heuer and TAG Heuer chronographs, like this, are the category-defining epitomes of the function of cars and watches, and Heuer's achievements in the field are legion. When it comes to the synthesis of motorsports and mechanical watches, I can't help but think about the Carrera in particular, and in a somewhat way. Unfortunatly that such a classic chronograph came to be after a simple timepiece concentration about a notoriety-driven race (one that would, I think, have

This is the great gift and genius of my friend Jack Heere. What Jack produced is just one decade lives on. Even more remember, each of his watches would become unlocked in its own way: 3000 for the car and another, combined with his son's for speed and racing, inspired the astonishing Carrera chronograph. Nothing represents the eternal quest to go faster than pure speed, and the Carrera watch is the epitome of that quest. I have owned Carrera watches for more than 20 years. I think of the Carrera, it is reminiscent of an amazing decade, and Hrover's extraordinary history overall.

Today, when I look upon the disc beauty of the chronographs in DUNE TIME that keep the Carrera company, it strikes me how profound this synthetic merger of time and speed—physically embedded not just in cars themselves—really is. And how wonderful it is that this, the final and final edition of DUNE TIME, brings it all together in one place beyond the reach.

Ralph Lauren's Polo Shirt

INTRODUCTION BY RALPH LAUREN

FOREWORD BY KEN BURNS

AFTERWORD BY DAVID LAUREN

Embodying a chic casualness that is uniquely American, the Polo shirt is a cultural symbol, worn by everyone from movie stars and presidents to athletes and artists.

The Polo shirt is to Ralph Lauren what Mickey Mouse is to Disney or the Empire State Building is to New York City. Whether worn with the collar popped up, open and untucked, or dressed up under a suit jacket, the Polo embodies the optimism of American style. In Lauren's words, "It's honest and from the heart and hopefully that is what touches the diversity of all who wear it. It was never about a shirt, but a way of living."

Featuring a gallery of stars from the worlds of sports, politics, film, and music—from Leonardo DiCaprio and Spike Lee, to Bill Clinton and Oprah Winfrey, to Pharrell Williams and Venus Williams—as well as everyday people who make the Polo their canvas for self-expression, The Polo Shirt looks at the enduring cool of a wardrobe classic.

Included are the full range of colors, styles, and fits the shirt has been produced in during its more than 50 year history. From the classic white to the weathered Polo, from the striped Polo to the US Olympic, US Open, and Wimbledon Championship collaborations, this catalogue celebrates the full spectrum of the Polo, making it a collector's dream.

Ralph Lauren began his career in 1967, designing neckties under the label Polo. He has received numerous awards for his work in fashion, philanthropy, and humanitarian causes and is the only designer to receive the CFDA's four highest honors: Womenswear Designer of the Year; Menswear Designer of the Year; Retailer of the Year; and Lifetime Achievement. In 2019 he received an honorary KBE for Services to Fashion from the Prince of Wales. Ken Burns is an Academy Award-winning filmmaker. David Lauren is the Chief Innovation Officer of Ralph Lauren, Vice Chairman of the Board, and President of the Ralph Lauren Foundation.

EDITED BY TINA LEUNG

TEXTS BY AMANDA NGUYEN, LUCIA SILVESTRI,
MIA MORETTI, NOOR TAGOURI,
ALEXANDRA DAMIANOS, CHANI NICHOLAS,
AISHA DEE, WHEMBLEY SEWELL

Bvlgari's new high jewelry collection pays tribute to the pioneering visions of indomitable women who blazed their own paths, broke boundaries, or shattered cultural norms.

In keeping with the inspiration for the jewelry collection, this book is an ode to women, as suggested by the female name "Magnifica." This launch marks the start of a new chapter in a history filled with energy, impact, and daring creativity, with a collection of outstanding pieces at the height of High Jewelry, creativity, and artisanship, conveyed through expertise and craftsmanship.

In a male-dominated world, Bvlgari's muses have helped forge a new perception of women thanks to their courage, resilience, and talent. Whether they may be artists, art patrons, or intellectuals, they have shared the same ability to think outside the box, re-imagining their future in an unapologetic way.

Based on the three pillars of stunning gems, inspiring muses, and the gifted hands of artisans and designers, Bvlgari's Magnifica book is divided into three sections—Head, Heart, and Hands—and outlines Bvlgari's new jewelry ecosystem. In addition to gorgeous photographs of jewels, the voices of the contributors to this volume, who are all women, will trace a path of encouragement and provide an example for today's women to pursue their intuitions and cultivate their talent.

ADVENTURES IN DECORATING

SUMMER THORNTON

Follow rising star designer Summer Thornton down the rabbit hole into a wonderland of color and pattern in her very first book of interiors.

Interior decorator Summer Thornton believes in designing with the wildest abandon: her world is one of nickel tubs, marble fireplaces, whimsical textiles, surprising patterns, and secret gardens. Often described as maximalist with a modern, fresh sensibility, Thornton manages to achieve highly polished, sophisticated interiors that indulge in a lighthearted, almost irreverent sense of whimsy. In her first book, she will inspire readers to follow their creative impulses and make their own rules.

Let yourself be transported with the dreamy, fantastical homes arranged by theme in Wonderland. “Fearless Romantic” features Thornton’s own gorgeous city house. “In Here Comes the Sun,” peek into an over-the-top tropical vacation home that’s centered on citrus. Look for her to misbehave a bit in “Good to be Bad.” If refinement is more your cup of tea, the polished settings in “The New Formal” are fit for a queen. Plus take a deep dive into the most colorful technicolor homes she’s ever designed in “Super Saturated.”

With outstanding photography from A-list photographers including Thomas Loof, Bjorn Wallander, Annie Schlechter, and Melanie Acevedo, and styling by AD contributor Mieke ten Have, Wonderland is a celebration of personal expression and fearless escapism.

Summer Thornton has been featured in many prestigious publications, including Architectural Digest, Veranda, Elle Décor, and the Wall Street Journal. INTERIOR AND DESIGN WORK

MAYER RUS

PHOTOGRAPHY BY STEPHEN KENT JOHNSON

Billy Cotton's hand is deft and light, weaving together bold color palettes, custom-designed furniture and lighting, and striking artifacts and works of art to achieve livable and easy interiors for today.

Cotton presents rooms that mix historical and modern influences, resulting in luxuriously sleek interiors for casual, yet sophisticated, living. The glamorous spaces—many designed for art-world clients, including Cindy Sherman and Lisa Yuskavage—are anchored in tradition but reflect the relaxed sensibilities of our time.

Cotton shares his multiscaled approach to design—successful turns with his varied collections, which are often included in his interior projects. Furniture, lighting, wallpaper, tableware, and terra-cotta planters are part of his repertoire. Cotton's industrial designs—like his interiors—embody an intelligence and understanding of design history. This book, the designer's first, documents the groundbreaking work of a rising and notable talent and should be in the libraries of designers and connoisseurs of fine living.

Billy Cotton is a New York-based interior and industrial designer. He officially began his interior-design practice in 2011, and was added to the AD100 in 2017.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY AUDREY HALL

Breathtaking houses that are built lovingly with noble materials and heritage methods, always presented in profound conversation with nature.

JLF Architects, based in Bozeman, Montana, and Jackson Hole, Wyoming, believe first and foremost that architecture should be rooted in its particular place, responding in a meaningful way to the natural or built environment. Using local materials and partnering with the best local craftsmen, JLF Architects seeks to create buildings that are tactile and modern, environmentally responsible and authentic, artful and crafted.

Now more than 30 years since its founding, the firm has grown along with the range and complexity of its projects, and still considers the desire to build in partnership with the land to be an approach that remains valid and increasingly resonant. JLF Architects' first projects were houses and these projects excite the firm still.

JLF Architects have found that by exploring the intimate relationship between family, place, and building they can create unique living environments that possess a compelling authenticity and beauty.

Inventing the California Look

INTERIORS BY FRANCES ELKINS,
MICHAEL TAYLOR, JOHN DICKINSON,
AND OTHER DESIGN INNOVATORS

PHOTOGRAPHY BY FRED LYON
PHILIP MEZA
FOREWORD BY JARED GOSS

The influential rooms of Elkins, Taylor, Dickinson, and other great talents—as photographed by Fred Lyon—represent the innovation and splendor of postwar Northern California interiors, which continue to inspire the work of designers today.

From the 1940s to the 1980s, some of the best residences in Northern California were decorated by a coterie of designers whose names were once recognized only by the cognoscenti of interior design. From Frances Elkins and Tony Hail, with their aristocratic aesthetics, to Michael Taylor and John Dickinson, with their bold fantasies, these designers created revolutionary settings that were idiomatic of their time and place—fresh, luxurious spaces complementing the various terrains and lifestyles of the northern part of the state.

Fred Lyon (b. 1924) is perhaps the only photographer who knew and documented the work of this talented group. Akin to what Julius Shulman was doing in Southern California, Lyon worked closely with the designers and magazine editors to help shape the look for posterity. In the years following the work of these giants, most of the spaces they created are gone or vastly changed, replaced by different tastes and new styles. Now re-appreciated for their artistry, we can relive this exciting era through Lyon's superb photography.

Fred Lyon has contributed to such magazines as Glamour, Vogue, House & Garden, and Life. His photography is in both private and museum collections. Philip Meza is a strategy consultant, writer, and enthusiast of twentieth-century photography and design. Jared Goss is an independent scholar and former associate curator at The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Allure of Charleston

HOUSES, ROOMS, AND GARDENS

SUSAN SULLY

The Allure of Charleston celebrates this historic city's eighteenth- and nineteenth-century styles and demonstrates how they continue to be employed and updated by design professionals today.

Anyone who loves houses and interiors loves Charleston. The Allure of Charleston shows why by delving into the architecture and interiors of the past and present. Exploring the question of what makes Charleston so distinct, Sully demonstrates why the language of its architecture, interior design, and gardens is so versatile and enduring. Examples of Georgian, Federal, and Greek Revival architecture and of rooms containing an array of English, European, and American decorative details convey the complex harmony that characterizes the city's houses. Featuring historic masterpieces including Drayton Hall, the Nathaniel Russell House, and Middleton Place, this volume also offers a look at present-day residences, among them a new house built faithfully to colonial style, a charming eighteenth-century dwelling with modern updates, a stunning Georgian townhouse with a contemporary addition, and a sophisticated Federal home. The Allure of Charleston also includes a visual lexicon presenting the individual elements—wrought iron gates, garden statuary, pastel plaster walls, refined porcelain—that comprise the city's style, making this exquisite book both informative and inspiring.

A renowned expert on Southern style, Susan Sully is the author and photographer of many books about architecture and design. She has also coauthored books with leading Southern architects including Bobby McAlpine and Historical Concepts and contributed articles to the New York Times, Veranda, Town & Country Travel, and other publications.

Paul R. Williams

CLASSIC HOLLYWOOD STYLE

KAREN E. HUDSON

FOREWORD BY MICHAEL S. SMITH

PRINCIPAL PHOTOGRAPHY BY BENNY CHAN

A dazzling tour of this prolific architect's most spectacular houses, by his granddaughter, Karen E. Hudson, now republished with a new introduction and foreword.

Over the course of a career spanning six decades, Paul Revere Williams came to define what gracious living looked like for many of the elite in Hollywood. Williams mastered an array of architectural idioms—including Spanish Mediterranean, English Tudor, French Normandy, Art Deco, and of course the California Ranch style—to create the sophisticated yet understated showplaces that are gloriously featured here.

One of the most celebrated architects of his generation, Williams was also the first African American member of the American Institute of Architects, and he was deeply involved in the Black community in Los Angeles and in Black affairs nationally. Williams moved among many worlds, and with such celebrity clients as Frank Sinatra and Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, not to mention members of Los Angeles high society, Williams left his signature on virtually every one of the city's most glamorous and exclusive enclaves—Beverly Hills, Brentwood, Bel Air, the Hollywood Hills.

Karen E. Hudson is author of Paul R. Williams, Architect and The Will and the Way, and is coauthor of Basic Black: Home Training for Modern Times and The New Basic Black. Michael S. Smith, an internationally renowned decorator, is a longtime member of the AD100 and Elle Decor's A-List and author of Designing History: The Extraordinary Art & Style of the Obama White House. Benny Chan is a widely published photographer and founder of Fotoworks.

American Classicist

THE ARCHITECTURE OF
PHILIP TRAMMELL SHUTZE

ELIZABETH MEREDITH DOWLING

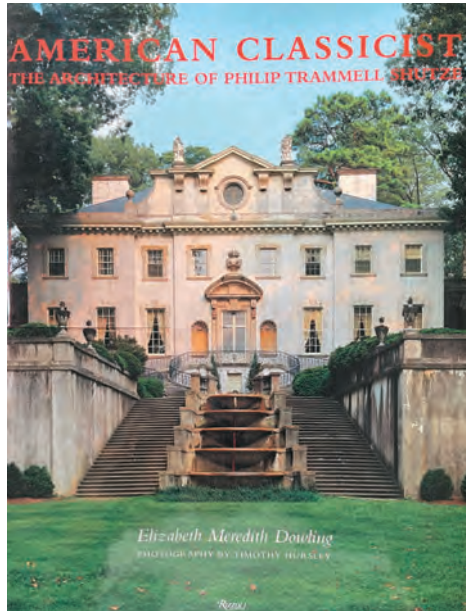

First published in 1989, this updated edition celebrates this seminal American architect.

Between 1912 and 1968, Philip Trammell Shutze produced over 750 architectural works. Because he was so prolific, the book examines only his most essential work, which as a body represents an architectural achievement of a very high order of refinement, grace, and beauty.

A graduate of Georgia Tech, Shutze stayed one year at Columbia University before he won the prestigious Rome Prize, traveling shortly thereafter to Rome. There he remained for five years, learning everything he could about the great buildings of the Renaissance and Baroque periods.

On his return to the U.S., Shutze worked in New York for Mott Schmidt, who designed townhouses for such families as the Astors, Morgans, and Vanderbilts, and he also worked for F. Burrall Hoffman, whose masterpiece is Villa Vizcaya in Miami. Within a few years, though, he returned to Georgia, to design in the Classical and traditional styles some of the most beautiful buildings ever to grace the American landscape.

Elizabeth Meredith Dowling is an architect who long served as associate professor of architecture at Georgia Tech. In 2020 she received the ICAA Philip Trammell Shutze Lifetime Achievement Award, for her contributions to the fields of architecture, architectural history, and the teaching of design.

Piero Portaluppi

TEXTS BY PATRIZIA PICCININI
PHOTOGRAPHY BY LORENZO PENNATI

A tribute to a recently rediscovered Italian architect and urban planner from the early twentieth century, featuring 150 previously unpublished photographs.

This new volume is dedicated to Piero Portaluppi (1888–1967), a significant and recently rediscovered figure of Italian twentieth-century architecture. Long neglected by critics, his work has been revisited and rightly reappraised thanks to the opening of Villa Necchi in Milan to the public.

The book traces Portaluppi's work through three design typologies: living spaces, the aesthetics of industrial structures, and public places. Notable examples of the industrial spaces include the power plants that Portaluppi lovingly constructed from 1910 to 1930, real architectural gems with an eclectic taste.

Portaluppi was also architect to the nascent industrial bourgeoisie in Northern Italy, the group that contributed to the new prosperity of Italian society. In addition to Necchi Campiglio, he worked for the Wassermanns and the Boschi Di Stefanos. Finally, he designed very important public spaces for the city of Milan, such as the Diurno hotel (1925) and the Hoepli Planetarium (1930).

The book adopts a photographic, very visual approach, paying particular attention to the chromatic details of the construction materials, the architect's trademark. The ad hoc photo shoot by Lorenzo Pennati is the first of its kind. Short introductory texts accompany the 150 photographs.

Patrizia Piccinini is an interior design journalist who has written for several Italian newspapers and has been on the editorial staff of Marie Claire Maison since 1998. Lorenzo Pennati is an interiors and advertising photographer. He collaborates with many Italian and international publications, and also with furniture and design companies.

Illusion in Design

NEW TRENDS IN ARCHITECTURE
AND INTERIORS

GAY GIORDANO AND PAUL GUNTHER

Cutting-edge examples of the use of optical illusion in design—from trompe l'oeil to anamorphosis—to solve various challenges, be they space or budget related, or that act as aesthetic features in architecture and the fields that rub elbows with it: art, design, and furniture.

This magical volume presents the startling world of illusion in design as employed by today's architects, interior designers, furniture designers, and others at work bending the appearance of reality for purposes of aesthetics or practicality or fun. From a faux bookcase that masks a room or Prohibition-style bar, to the mind-boggling Escher-like effects achieved by Casa Ceramica, whose optical illusion of a floor dips into valleys and rises into mounds (but is in reality flat), the book is a revelation and an inspiration. It offers to us the possibility that nearly anything can be done, if it can be imagined—even in our own homes.

The authors look at residences across the globe, as well as spaces beyond the home, that utilize a myriad of surprising techniques. Included are projects by up-and-coming designers, such as Studio Malka and Vector Architects, as well as more established practitioners, such as Ferguson and Shamamian, G. P. Schafer, Peter Pennoyer, Robert A. M. Stern, and others.

Gay Giordano, a poet and writer on architecture and design, is coauthor of New York Living: Re-Inventing Home. Paul Gunther, author, consultant, and current director of the Gracie Mansion Conservancy, is coauthor of New York Living: Re-Inventing Home.

Lotusland

FOREWORD BY MARC APPLETON
PHOTOGRAPHY BY LISA ROMEREIN

A beautifully crafted volume on the world-renowned gardens of Lotusland—the first such book in more than two decades and a magnificent tribute to this international treasure.

Variouslly labeled Eden, one of the 100 gardens you must visit before you die, and among the ten best botanical gardens in the world, Madame Ganna Walska's Lotusland is magic mixed with paradise in the hills of Montecito, California. Walska, a well-known Polish opera singer and socialite, purchased the estate in 1941 and spent 43 years creating Lotusland. The collections of exotic plants on the 37-acre property are an expression of her penchant for the dramatic, the unexpected, and the whimsical. Home to more than 3,400 types of plants, including at least 35,000 specimens, it is recognized not just for the diversity of its collections, but for the extraordinary design sensibility informing the many one-of-a-kind individual gardens that comprise the whole. As pleasing as its aesthetic and sensorial qualities are, Lotusland is also an important center for scientific research and conservation. A leader in the field of sustainable practices, it is the first botanical garden in the United States to become entirely organic.

Marc Appleton is a celebrated architect and author of numerous books on architecture and design, including Ranches: Home on the Range in California. Lisa Romerein is a Los Angeles-based photographer and principal photographer for The House That Pinterest Built and The Art of Outdoor Living.

Entertaining in Style: Nancy Astor and Nancy Lancaster

TABLE SETTINGS, RECIPES, FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS, AND DECORATING

JANE CHURCHILL AND EMILY ASTOR

FOREWORD BY BOB COLACELLO

PHOTOGRAPHY BY ANDREW MONTGOMERY

This book showcases timeless recipes and inspirations for the perfect party from cousins Nancy Astor and celebrated interior designer Nancy Lancaster, both renowned in twentieth-century Britain for entertaining with style, sophistication, and joie de vivre.

Featuring original photography that highlights glamorous menus, interior décor, table settings, and flower arrangements, this book is an homage to joyful entertaining in the English country house style. Nancy Astor and Nancy Lancaster, both born American, were renowned as two of Britain's greatest party-givers, excelling at gracious entertaining, witty repartee, and above all sophisticated menus—talents rooted in their upbringing at Mirador, their Albemarle County, Virginia, family estate known for its superb food.

The recent discovery of the original Mirador recipe collection, together with materials from Astor's and Lancaster's archives, provides the basis for this book, a collaboration between descendants of both women. With 75 recipes, the book showcases menus that combine classic English dishes with Southern American classics such as corn fritters, fried chicken, and Pullman salad.

Photographed at Cliveden, Nancy Astor's country house, and Nancy Lancaster's several homes, the book features the family's original china, silver, and décor. Peppered throughout are previously unseen family photographs.

Jane Churchill, interior designer, is great-niece of Nancy Astor and Nancy Lancaster's cousin. Emily Astor, photographer, is Nancy Astor's granddaughter. Bob Colacello, long-time editor of Interview, writes for Vanity Fair. Andrew Montgomery, photographer, has published in Country Living, House & Garden, and Vanity Fair.

Corned Beef Hash

Serves: 4
Prep time: 10 mins or 15 mins
Cooking time: 15 mins

500g/1 1/2 medium round potatoes (peeled and chopped)
2 tablespoons cooked ham or vegetable oil
2 large onions (peeled and chopped)
340g/12 oz corned beef (canned or cooked)
200g/7 oz egg beef stock
2 tablespoons fresh coarsely ground salt and pepper to taste

This Mirador kitchen, like its counterparts at Cliveden and Ditchley, would undoubtedly have made its own corned beef. This is not a difficult dish, as the meat has nothing to do with corn, but rather hand-cut, aged, and salted. In the days before modern refrigeration, salting meat was a way to preserve it and keep it from spoiling. Again, we use this as a very economical recipe, so it's worth noting, one of the most expensive cuts of beef.

To make corn for salt beef is simple. Before the brine is a mix of salt and water (1 lb salt/200g to a gallon) with 4 heaped spoons of curing salt and any spices you like to add. We use a weak 10% brine in the fridge, so a lightly sealed container or freezer bag. Turn the meat every once in a while.

After that, rather like a hash, place the meat in a skillet, cover with water and add spices that may include paprika, garlic, mustard, horseradish, onion, poultry, chicken, and shrimp. (Spices, of course, for at least 4 hours until the meat is tender and can be pulled apart.)

Alternatively, simply buy a tin or can of corned beef at your local supermarket.

First of all boil the cubed potatoes until soft but not mushy. Chop the corn beef very fine and mix with the chopped onion and cooked potatoes. Add the vegetable oil or butter, whatever you prefer, add salt and pepper to taste, and mix again.

Put the mixture into a frying pan, and fry on a medium to low heat, "very slowly." During this process add the stock bit by bit until it is absorbed.

Serve with baked beans and some curly kale.

EVERYTHING ABOUT AVOCADOS
 70 TASTY RECIPES AND MORE

DÉBORAH HOLTZ AND JUAN CARLOS MENA

From social media to hipster menus, avocados are trending, and this utterly original cookbook from the avocado's native Mexico celebrates the fruit that went from Aztec aphrodisiac to twenty-first-century clean-eating superfood.

Everything there is to know about avocados is here: ancient origins, amazing health properties, restorative cosmetic uses, and a recipe collection far beyond the tried and true. This book features a fresh visual design aesthetic that reflects the creative sensibility of Mexican contemporary art, graphic design, atmospheric photography, and street style.

Recipes cover everything from guacamole in many variations, salads, unusual sides, many permutations of avocado toast—even toastless avocado sandwiches—as well as less well-known and offbeat uses. The book also explores avocado butter and oil; detoxifying smoothies; rejuvenating cosmetic salves and masks, and much more. Practical matters are also addressed: an avocado overview by type; storage tips; preserving the brilliant green flesh from browning; ripening immature fruits; and safety tips for slicing and de-pitting.

Avocados are grown in Mediterranean climates globally and dominate social media, hip restaurant menus, and health-based diets, but this is the first book paying tribute to the superfruit's deep roots as a native, Mexican heritage food.

Déborah Holtz is Director of Trilce Ediciones publisher in Mexico. Juan Carlos Mena is a designer and design instructor at Mexico's Universidad Iberoamericana. They have created critically acclaimed books about Mexican culture and society including Tacopedia and Pedro Friedeberg.

Mindful Mixology

A COMPREHENSIVE GUIDE TO NO- AND LOW-ALCOHOL COCKTAILS WITH 60 RECIPES

DEREK BROWN

FOREWORD BY JULIA BAINBRIDGE

From Dry January to Sober October, moderation is having a moment. Derek Brown (a mindful drinker himself) shows the sober and sober-curious how to mix complex, sophisticated low- and no-proof drinks.

After his son was born, Derek Brown decided to cut back on his drinking. But as a bartender, bar owner, and cocktail and spirits expert, he wanted to do so using the techniques and expertise of mixology to create a new arsenal of libations that were sophisticated, satisfying, and tasty.

Creating these drinks isn't as simple as removing the alcohol. No- and low-proof cocktails still have to be balanced and still have to be delicious, but they don't operate exactly like cocktails with alcohol. The drinks Brown presents in this book are meticulously choreographed around taste, texture, body, and piquancy to result in surprisingly complex "adult beverages" minus the booze. Drawing on research into Temperance-era libations and other historically NA drinks, meticulous tweaking of classic cocktails to create lower-proof versions, and entirely new concoctions inspired by an evolved home bar, Brown shares 60 recipes for no- and low-proof cocktails, as well as a guide to the ingredients and equipment you need to imbibe in Mindful Mixology at home.

Derek Brown is a leading spirits and cocktail expert best known for his work at Washington, DC's Columbia Room. He is the author of Spirits, Sugar, Water, Bitters: How the Cocktail Conquered the World—which earned him "Author of the Year" at the 2020 Nightclub & Bar Show Awards. Equally recognized for his palatable non-alcoholic creations, Derek serves as a brand champion for Spiritless, a distilled non-alcoholic spirits brand. In 2020, Drinks International named him one of the Bar World 100, a list of the top beverage figures effecting positive change in the global bar industry. Julia Bainbridge is a James Beard Award-nominated writer and the author of Good Drinks: Alcohol-Free Recipes for When You're Not Drinking for Whatever Reason.

Mindful Mixology

A Comprehensive Guide to No- and Low-Alcohol Cocktails with 60 Recipes

RIZZOLI

A few years back, a food writer argued that the Aperol Spritz was a terrible drink. The problem is—for such a terrible drink—it's actually very popular, and she felt the sting of being ratioed. Not that I condone the ratio-ing. It's just a drink, after all. But the public has spoken. Say what you want about the Aperol Spritz, just know that you may hold that opinion alone.

Aperol Spritz

3 ounces dry brut prosecco (or Thomson & Scott Singley Alcohol Free Sparkling Chardonnay)
2 ounces Aperol (or Lyre's Italian Orange)
1 ounce soda water
Thinly sliced orange wheel for garnish

Pour brut prosecco and Aperol in a wine glass. Add ice and top with soda water. Garnish with thinly sliced orange wheel.

Sherry. Sherry. Sherry. Yes, I use a lot of Sherry in low-alcohol drinks. I also have two colada recipes. So, in many ways, this is the pinnacle of the book. This drink is incredibly tasty and still has wonderful complex flavors that keep it from being candy. Isn't that the goal for no- and low-alcoholic cocktails? Something better than the kiddie drinks we're usually served.

Sherry Colada

2 ounces sherry
1½ ounces pineapple juice
1½ ounces coconut cream
½ ounce fresh lime juice
6 drops salt tincture (see page 18)
Pineapple slice and brand for garnish

Combine all liquid ingredients in a blender with half a cup of ice and blend until smooth. Pour into hurricane glass and garnish with pineapple slice and brand.

Jean-Michel Basquiat

CROSSROADS

LEE JAFFE

FOREWORD BY J. FAITH ALMIRON

A rare and poignant compilation of photography and written anecdotes by American photographer and artist Lee Jaffe that captures his close friendship, collaboration, and travels with the artist Jean-Michel Basquiat as they traversed Japan, Thailand, and Switzerland in 1983.

Lee Jaffe, a cross-disciplinary visual artist, musician, and poet, took photos of his friend, Jean-Michel Basquiat, when they traveled abroad in 1983. As a photographer, Jaffe had a connection to Basquiat, and their time spent together resulted in an archive of imagery that captured one of the art world's true legends through an unfiltered and authentic lens.

Basquiat and Jaffe connected over reggae music at a mutual friend's art show. It was the early 1980s in New York, when the art scene was raw, complicated, and thriving, and Jaffe cultivated strong connections with cultural figures such as Basquiat, Bob Marley, and Peter Tosh. "For me, watching him [Jean] paint reminded me of the times I would sit and play harmonica while Bob Marley, with his acoustic guitar, would be writing songs that were eventually to become classics," Jaffe says. "With Jean and Bob, it seemed like they were channeling inspiration coming from an otherworldly place." This beautiful volume presents snapshots of Basquiat: from the artist smiling on a bullet train to Kyoto and behind-the-scenes documentation of Basquiat creating artwork in St. Moritz, to poignant portraits that mirror his undeniable magnetism. These rare depictions of Basquiat come to life with Jaffe's unforgettable experiences of their friendship, collaborations, and travels detailed in private written memories and anecdotes. This insightful and moving illustrated volume captures the soul of the unedited, ambitious young artist during the height of his short yet unprecedented artistic career.

Lee Jaffe is an artist, photographer, filmmaker, musician, and producer. J. Faith Almiron is a New York-based writer, editor, and cultural studies professor.

Saved

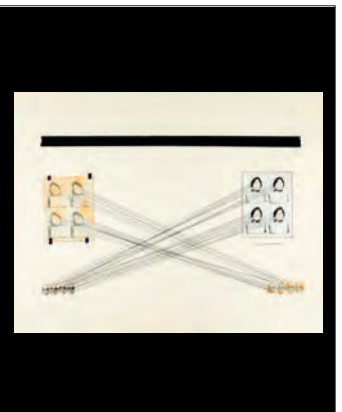

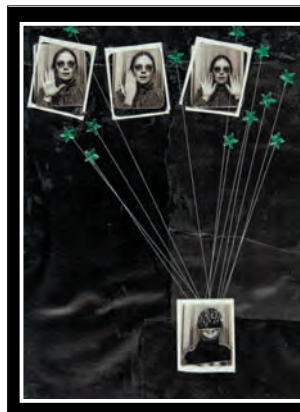

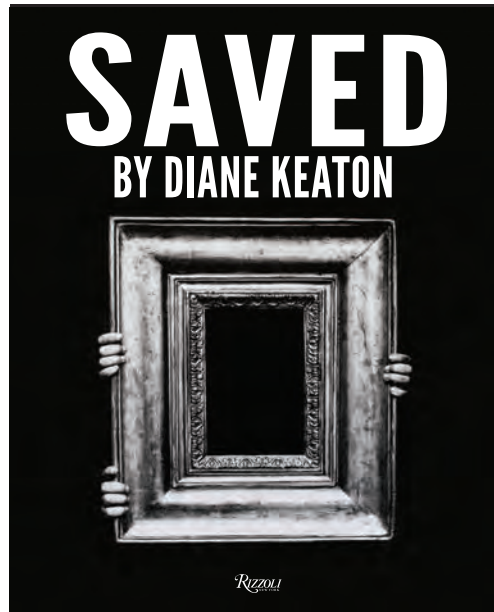

MY PICTURE WORLD

DIANE KEATON

Diane Keaton's cabinet of saved and found photographic curiosities is a visual autobiography of sorts and scrapbook of her fascinations and reflections.

A visual autobiography of a kind as only Diane Keaton could tell it, via the celebrated star's idiosyncratic and personal collections and ruminative texts, Saved offers an unprecedented glimpse into the mind of the legendary film star. The book begins with an homage to movies—curiously, to old “b” grade horror flicks, such as Attack of the Puppet People—a passion that manifests in a collection of rare film stills showing large-brain aliens with crablike hands and terrified men with eyes growing from their shoulders. In a second chapter or collection, the reader encounters “Cracked,” a startling selection of crinkled and neglected negatives: found portraits that speak of the past through the broken lens of time. Even more intimately revealing are photographs taken by the star herself, be they of pigeons while on downtime from the set of Reds in London or of the “greeters” of Hollywood Boulevard, caught at the other end of her Rolleiflex camera lens, now revealed as the seen, the experienced, the remembered, the cherished. But this is only the beginning, the surface of a very deep dive into the wellsprings of one of the great creative talents at work today. The book is an invitation to dive in.

Diane Keaton is an Oscar-winning actress, director, and author whose books with Rizzoli include California Romantica, House, and The House That Pinterest Built.

THE COBRASNAKE ARCHIVE

MARK HUNTER

A love letter to a time before Instagram and the legendary party scenes of the 2000s that brought together the new millennium's rising stars of pop culture.

Under the moniker the Cobrasnake, the photographer Mark Hunter captured the party scenes of Los Angeles and New York during the hipster-glam heyday of the 2000s—and in doing so defined the look of a generation.

Armed with just a Polaroid and a primitive website, Cobrasnake captured pioneers of youth culture from Kanye West and Steve Aoki to Jeremy Scott, Katy Perry, and Lindsay Lohan—icons of the indie pop world in the making. Intimately connected with the people around him and keyed-in to the edgier fringes of the fashion, music, and art worlds, Hunter photographed influencers before they were influencers, in the wild and at play from the streets of LA to NYC and beyond.

Collected here for the first time are more than three hundred of Cobrasnake's favorite images alongside ephemera, from concert tickets and backstage passes to outtakes and unseen photographs from his many adventures. These photographs are records of the last generation of partiers to predate the livestreaming of culture afforded by today's social media—capturing the energy and vibrancy of a time before Instagram.

Mark Hunter is a photographer who under the moniker of the Cobrasnake chronicled the party scenes of Los Angeles and New York in the 2000s. Richard Hambleton

GODFATHER OF STREET ART

VLADIMIR RESTOIN ROITFELD
AND ANDY VALMORBIDA

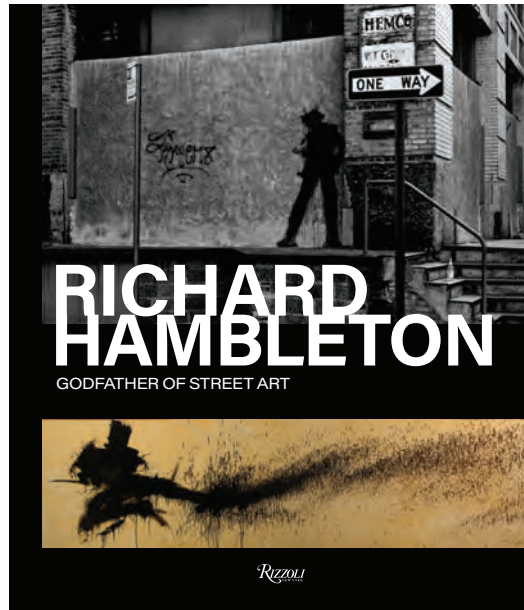

The first definitive career retrospective of the visionary underground godfather of street art at the center of New York's 1980s urban art scene.

Richard Hambleton (1954–2017) was a Canadian artist known for his pioneering street art. He was a surviving member of a group that emerged from the New York City art scene during the booming art market of the 1980s, which also included his close friends Keith Haring and Jean-Michel Basquiat.

As a conceptual artist, Hambleton's early work installations titled "Image Mass Murder" from 1976–1979 were secretly placed onto streets in over 15 cities, depicting chalk-body outlines and blood-splattered crime scenes of what appeared to be "victims." This theme of a prevailing violence, fear, and morbid curiosity elicited surprise and anxiety from its unsuspecting viewers. In the early 1980s, Hambleton created his most iconic "Shadow Man" works—artfully splattered ominous shadowy figures on unexpected street corners, walls, and alleys that startled viewers into a visceral awareness that the city was still a dangerous place.

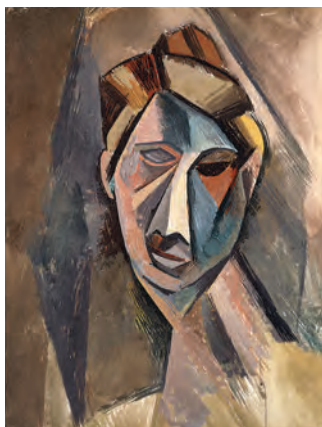

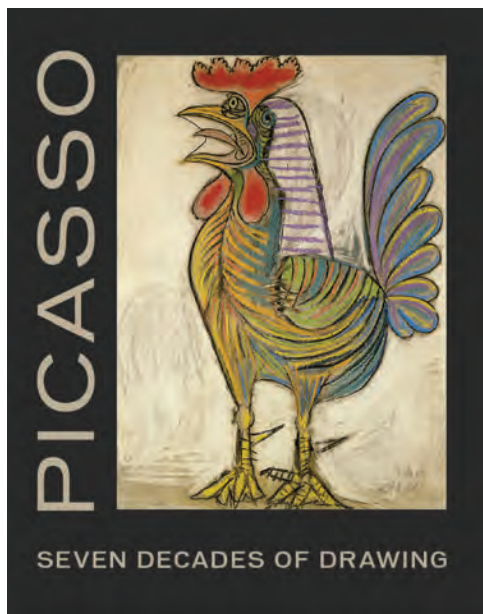

This book features over 200 images including his early "Shadow Man" canvas paintings, as well as photographs of his in situ street work, a selection of his "Marlboro" rodeo horse silhouettes, and his "Beautiful Paintings" series of landscapes and seascapes, alongside other works on paper; behind-the-scenes studio shots; personal, unseen photographs of the artist; and inspirational imagery. Hambleton was renowned for influencing artists such as Banksy, Blek le Rat, and Shepard Fairey. This arresting, one-of-a-kind book will appeal to those interested in visual arts, street art, graffiti, and art history.

Picasso: Seven Decades of Drawing surveys Pablo Picasso’s prodigious career as a draftsman, including over 40 examples on loan from private collections spanning nearly 70 years of the artist’s long and celebrated career. The book showcases drawings in a wide range of media, from works in charcoal and crayon to colored pencil, collage or papiers collés, graphite, gouache, ink, pastel, and watercolor. Some of the drawings on loan are rarely on view and they provide insight into the evolution of his iconic paintings, such as Les Femmes d’Alger and Guernica, while others stand alone as virtuoso, independent works, highlighting Picasso’s mastery of line, form, and medium. The book ultimately examines how drawing serves as the vital thread connecting all of Picasso’s art.

Olivier Berggruen is a German-American art historian and independent curator based in New York. Christine Poggi is Judy and Michael Steinhart Director and Professor of Fine Arts at the Institute of Fine Arts, New York University.

Bonnard

THE EXPERIENCE OF SEEING

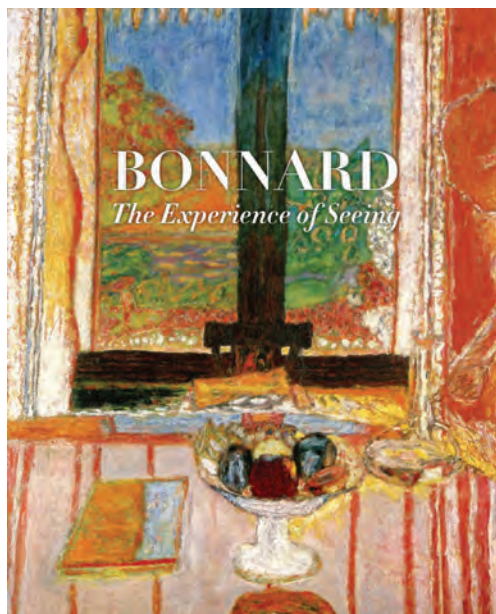

BARRY SCHWABSKY AND SARAH WHITFIELD
IN ASSOCIATION WITH ACQUAVELLA GALLERIES,
NEW YORK

Rarely seen and important paintings by this much-loved French postimpressionist, emphasizing his radical use of color and unconventional compositions.

A new monograph brings together 30 important paintings by Pierre Bonnard (1867–1947) on loan from museums and private collections, including still lifes, nudes, interior scenes, and landscapes, many never seen together before and published here for the first time. The book reveals how Bonnard's modern compositions transformed paintings in the first half of the twentieth century, while celebrating his unparalleled ability to capture fleeting moments, memories, and emotions on canvas.

Rather than focus on a particular time period or subject, Bonnard: The Experience of Seeing aims to present Bonnard's modernity and concentrate on his influence on contemporary painters working today. The book draws attention to how Bonnard translated the experience of perception—with his shifting spaces, camouflaged and dissolving figures going in and out of focus, and forms hidden at the periphery—and how we as viewers experience his paintings, with his works slowly revealing themselves to us over time.

Barry Schwabsky is art critic for The Nation and coeditor of international reviews for Artforum. Sarah Whitfield is an art historian, writer, and curator. She is coauthor of the René Magritte Catalogue Raisonné.

David Reed

ESSAY BY RICHARD SHIFF

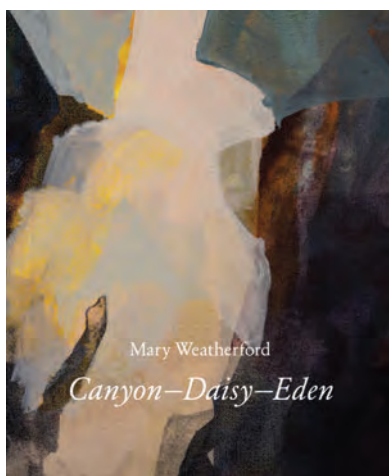

A beautifully illustrated, in-depth look at recent works by David Reed, an American artist who brings conceptual interests in process and duration to his abstract paintings.

Since the outset of his career, David Reed's central preoccupation has been to challenge and reinvent how to make a painting. Consistently, his paintings present a compelling tension between the gestural and the impersonal; in recent times this has been characterized by fluid, torquing, extended marks that reveal the viscosity of paint and the speed of color and light in a flattened manner that looks photographic or filmic.

David Reed documents the artist's 2020 exhibition of new work at Gagosian in New York, presenting 15 outsize paintings that, in many cases, were over a decade in the making. The plates are punctuated by striking details of several works. The artist's "working drawings," which he has long made to document the many stages of a painting's creation, are illustrated throughout the plate section, offering insights into his varied sources and complex processes.

A new essay by art historian Richard Shiff examines the emotional tenor of Reed's paintings.

Richard Shiff is the Effie Marie Cain Regents Chair in Art at the University of Texas at Austin, where he directs the Center for the Study of Modernism.

Mary Weatherford

CANYON—DAISY—EDEN

INTERVIEW BY IAN BERRY, ESSAY BY BILL ARNING, AND WRITINGS BY ELISSA AUTHER, ARNOLD KEMP, REBECCA MORRIS, DALE PECK, AND MARGARET WEATHERFORD

This career-spanning volume documents the first museum retrospective devoted to the work of Mary Weatherford, a daring practitioner of American abstraction and a leading painter of her generation.

Over the last three decades, Mary Weatherford has developed a rich and diverse painting practice, from her early 1990s target paintings based on operatic heroines, to the expansive, gestural canvases overlaid with neon glass-tubing that brought attention to her practice in the 2010s. Mary Weatherford: Canyon—Daisy—Eden presents a survey of Weatherford's career, drawing from several distinct bodies of work made between 1989 and 2017. As constant experiments with color, scale, and materials, these works as a whole reveal the continuity of Weatherford's interest in human experience, both personal and historical. Featuring 120 full-color plates and expansive installation views, this volume—published by Gagosian in association with the Frances Young Tang Teaching Museum and Art Gallery at Skidmore College—documents an exhibition presented at the Tang and at SITE Santa Fe.

Bill Arning is an independent curator and gallerist based in Houston, Texas. Elissa Auther is Deputy Director of Curatorial Affairs and the William and Mildred Ladson Chief Curator at the Museum of Arts and Design. Ian Berry is Dayton Director of the Frances Young Tang Teaching Museum and Art Gallery and Professor of Liberal Arts at Skidmore College. Arnold Kemp is an artist, curator, poet, and the Dean of Graduate Studies at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. Rebecca Morris is a painter based in Los Angeles and Professor of Painting at Pasadena City College. Dale Peck is an author and critic. Margaret Weatherford (1966–2012) was a Los Angeles-based writer and editor.

Antony Gormley

MARTIN CAIGER-SMITH

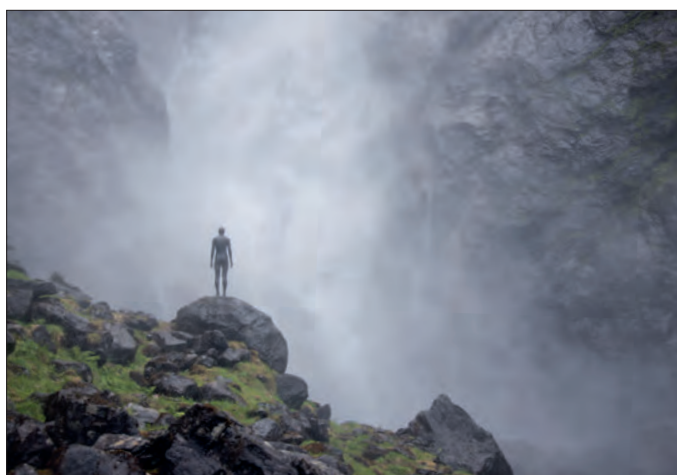

A new and updated edition of the definitive monograph on the British artist Antony Gormley, now available in an affordably priced format.

This beautiful and comprehensive monograph, expanded and updated in a new affordably priced edition, examines the entirety of Gormley's career, from his earliest sketches to his best-known public installations. Martin Caiger-Smith's "magnificent, magisterial overview" (The Independent) examines the relationship between Gormley's life and art and identifies the singular vision that ties together a vast canon of work in an extraordinary range of media and materials.

Best known for the major public works that most visibly represent his innovative approach to sculpture, Gormley is a prolific artist who has renegotiated the tension between the individual and the universal. Drawing on images that range from childhood snapshots to photographs of his most recent installations, this book traces the evolution of Gormley's work, from the drawings he makes every day in the studio, through the constantly evolving process of casting his own body in various forms, to the ultimate expression of his ideas in such masterpieces as the colossal Angel of the North or the scattered figures of Another Place.

Illustrated with hundreds of images that explore the scale and impact of Gormley's work—including his acclaimed exhibition at the Royal Academy in 2019, as well as recent installations in Florence, Delos, and New York City—and "dense with insight and deeply considered analysis from the author" (Financial Times), this book is the definitive survey of a monumental career.

Martin Caiger-Smith is Head of the MA Curating the Art Museum program at the Courtauld Institute in London. In his prior roles as Head of Exhibitions and Acting Director of the Hayward Gallery, he organized major exhibitions that showed internationally, including retrospectives of Francis Bacon (1998), Roy Lichtenstein (2004), and Dan Flavin (2006). He writes frequently on art, photography, and architecture.

Ocean Fishes

PAINTINGS OF SALTWATER FISH

JAMES PROSEK
ESSAYS BY ROBERT M. PECK AND
CHRISTOPHER RIOPELLE
FOREWORD BY PETER MATTHIESSEN

Now back in print, this stunning volume highlights the beauty and monumentality of these fish, calling on us to preserve what we have before it is lost.

Renowned naturalist, artist, and fisherman James Prosek captures 37 of the most pursued game fish—from striped bass to tarpon, swordfish to bonefish—through rich, highly detailed watercolors painted specifically for this volume. This updated edition now includes two new fish species: the Atlantic great white shark and sawfish.

Traveling the world to experience first-hand each species that he paints, Prosek sees the fish alive as they come out of the water before they lose their true colors. The original paintings are life-size portraits (from a 14-inch porgy to a 12½-foot blue marlin), and details from these originals are reproduced at full size to give a sense of scale.

James Prosek made his authorial debut with Trout: An Illustrated History. A Yale graduate, Prosek is a regular contributor to the New York Times and won a Peabody Award in 2003. Robert M. Peck is Curator and Senior Fellow of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. Christopher Riopelle is Curator of Post-1800 Paintings at The National Gallery, London. Peter Matthiessen won two National Book Awards as a novelist and nonfiction writer.

Wayne Thiebaud

UPDATED EDITION

KENNETH BAKER, NICHOLAS FOX WEBER,
KAREN WILKIN, AND JOHN YAU

As he turns 100, the definitive monograph of Wayne Thiebaud's work is now available in a reformatted, accessibly priced edition, and including his most recent paintings.

This is the most comprehensive monograph to date on Wayne Thiebaud, with new works added, in a reformatted size. Spanning the length of his career from the 1950s to the present, the book has been made in close collaboration with the artist. Thiebaud selected the works himself, making the book an act of autobiography in a sense. At age 100, he looks back over his life and his work, rich with breakthroughs in painting and masterful individuality.

"Required reading for those who have a healthy appetite for provocative art." —Bloomberg Business

"This comprehensive monograph of more than 200 illustrations can literally be considered eye candy. American artist Wayne Thiebaud is famed for his brightly colored canvases of cakes, diner pies, pastries, ice cream cones, candy and brightly colored gumball machines. . . . Whether still lifes or landscapes, Thiebaud's paintings are akin to visual Prozac; you simply cannot be in a bad mood looking at them." —Kansas City Magazine

"While Thiebaud is best known for his heavily pigmented still lifes of cakes, pies, and candies, [this] book shows his broader range, from vibrant landscapes depicting highways and farmland to portraits of solitary figures. . . . The texts examine Thiebaud's influences as well as his impact on the art world and the individual viewers of his work." —Architectural Digest

Kenneth Baker has been the resident art critic at the San Francisco Chronicle since 1983. Nicholas Fox Weber is a cultural historian and executive director of the Josef and Anni Albers Foundation. Karen Wilkin is an independent curator and art critic based in New York. John Yau is an American poet and critic who lives in New York.

FLIGHT OF THE CONCHORDS

2007-2019, HBO, US

Watch it because there is subtle, quirky brilliance in every scene

The Flight of the Conchords have appeared in multiple formats, from a stage act to a BBC radio sitcom and then this TV show, and each is more delightful than the last. Only two series were made of this download list of two uncorrelated singer-songwriters from New Zealand trying to make their mark in the Big Apple. But there is brilliance in every element—the script and acting are superb, but the songs, each a pastiche of a different genre or famous artist, are pitch-perfect. Almost everyone involved has gone on to bigger things, with Noel and Peter Dinklage winning an Oscar, co-creator James Bobin directing movies for Disney, and writer-director Taika Waititi becoming the breakout comedy director of his generation.

DARK

2017, NETFLIX, GERMANY

Watch it because it's a tense drama full of sinister twists and turns. The fragile thread of normalcy begins to unravel when two young children go missing in a black small town in Germany. Four hostile families take up the frantic search, revealing the town's sinister secret and the mind-bending events that led to the disappearances. Set in the fictional town of Winden next to a nuclear power plant, but actually filmed in Berlin, Dark is Netflix's first German-language production and has been received enthusiastically by critics.

KILLING EVE

2018-PRESENT, BBC/NETFLIX, UK/US

Watch it because it's a thrilling action-packed story of obsession

With each story arc headed up by a fresh new showrunner, this stylish, shocking and violent cat-and-mouse crime drama earned ratings in both the UK and the US. The spy-thriller tells the story of a bored MI5 agent played with dark humor by Sandra Oh, who becomes mutually obsessed with the psychopathic assassin (Jodie Comer) that she has been assigned to track down.

END OF THE FING WORLD

2017-PRESENT, ALL 4/NETFLIX, UK

Watch it because it takes the disenchantment of youth to a whole new level

Based on a dark graphic novel of the same name, the first episode introduces us to troubled teen James, whose hobbies include killing small animals, leading him to suspect he might have psychopathic tendencies. He is befriended by Alyssa, an angry rebel who is desperate to escape her unhappy home life and the two embark on a crime-riddled road trip to fulfil their disturbing fantasies.

BLACK MIRROR

2011–, CHANNEL 4/NETFLIX, UK/US

Watch it because of its black comic take on the modern era

The great misfire of the show Black Mirror and its creator Charlie Brooker is that both chronologically and technologically we have now caught up with the fearful “future” as depicted in many dystopian science fiction movies of the past. Thus he and his writers have created a new form of gothic horror, in which evil is personified with the sinister face of consumer technology where ordinary humans sleepwalk into terrible situations thanks to the comforting blanket of convenience. As with many other shows in this chapter, the series walks a fine line between comedy and horror, here the comedy is much blacker—less unrelatable as velvet, as pitiless as the unresponsive screen of a computer. After starting on Channel 4 in the UK it expanded its budget, scope and star power.

New York by Neighborhood

ANDREW GARN

New York by Neighborhood presents a vibrant tapestry of 75 distinct locales, defined as much by individual residents as by shops, architecture, streets, stories, traditions, and an openness to transformation.

More languages are spoken in New York than anywhere else in the world; a testament to this diversity are the city's neighborhoods. From Arthur Avenue in the Bronx, with its age-old Italian restaurants and shops, and Astoria Queens, with its vibrant Greek community and diverse landscape, to Manhattan's Chinatown and Greenwich Village, New York City is its neighborhoods, first and foremost. This book looks at the essential New York through a lens focused on its many distinct and colorful neighborhoods, providing in each case a snapshot of a place and its people, as well as brief and informal texts incorporating anecdotes and fascinating historical facts. Beautifully photographed by New York photographer and author Andrew Garn, the volume will appeal to visitors who want the full picture of this great city; as well, it will appeal to the resident, who continues to marvel at the vast array of wonders that make up the city that never sleeps.

Andrew Garn, a native New Yorker, is a fine art and editorial photographer whose work has been featured in such publications as the New York Times Magazine, Interview, Vogue, and many others. His previous books include Exit to Tomorrow: The History of the Future, Subway Style: Architecture and Design of the NYC Subway, The Houseboat Book, and Bethlehem Steel.

AES+F

TEXTS BY GIUSEPPE BARBIERI
AND SILVIA BURINI
CONTRIBUTIONS BY TINA RIVERS RYAN,
BROOKE LYNN MCGOWAN, TOM MORTON,
HOU HANRU

This is the second extensive monograph dedicated to the internationally acclaimed Russian artist collective: AES+F.

Since 1987, AES+F have been working at the intersection of painting, sculpture, photography, video, and new technologies. They achieved worldwide acclaim in the Russian Pavilion at the 52nd Biennale di Venezia in 2007 with their provocative, other-worldly Last Riot (2007), the first of their signature large-scale, multichannel video installations. Always pushing the boundaries of their practice, between 2016 and 2019 the collective also worked on video set designs for theater and opera.

Their visual journey is articulated into three chronological sections corresponding to the most significant shifts in their conceptual evolution, covering their practice from 1995 to 2020: from Islamic Project to Last Riot; from The Feast of Trimalchio to Inverso Mundus; and after Inverso Mundus. The two editors highlight their sources of inspiration, spanning Antiquity to the Renaissance, Neoclassicism and Pop Art, while the four contributors contextualize their practices within recent trends in the international art scene. The publication also includes an interview “roundtable” section with questions from various cultural practitioners, moderated by Olga Sviblova.

The volume sheds light on the psychoanalytic approach that underlies their language and provocations, intended to induce a process of self-reflection in the viewer, changing their perception of the world and society.

Silvia Burini is Director of the Center for Studies in Russian Art (CSAR) at Ca' Foscari University in Venice.

Giuseppe Barbieri is full professor of History of Modern Art at Ca' Foscari University of Venice and is the head of the Department of Philosophy and Cultural Heritage.

Reinventing Cultural Architecture

A RADICAL VISION BY OPEN

TEXTS BY CATHERINE SHAW

FOREWORD BY ARIC CHEN

CONTRIBUTION BY MARTINO STIERLI

This book presents the radical architectural strategies and poetic cultural projects developed by OPEN Architecture, and the opportunities and challenges that arise from redefining built forms.

Drawing on a series of conversations and site visits to six recent groundbreaking projects, architecture writer Catherine Shaw describes how Beijing-based OPEN Architecture is reinventing and responding to China's complex and fast-changing cultural landscape with projects that mark a new era for contemporary Chinese cultural architecture. OPEN Architecture was founded in New York in 2003 by Li Hu and Huang Wenjing, while their Beijing office opened in 2008.

From a contemporary art gallery buried beneath a sand dune to a sculptural open-air theatre in a remote mountain valley near the Great Wall, co-founders Li Hu and Huang Wenjing re-evaluate conventional Western assumptions about culture and design as they base each pioneering project on the needs and pleasures of humanity within the context of diverse terrains and climates. In doing so, they not only consider how cultural architecture looks, but how it works.

Projects are presented with commentary and contextual information as well as new analyses and archival material, including outstanding color photography, plans and drawings, and exploratory sketches.

This book provides a fresh perspective on contemporary cultural architecture and place making, highlighting the architects' sources of inspiration, their challenges, and their construction methods, showing how each impactful project responds to China's distinctive context.

Catherine Shaw is an independent architecture, design, and art critic and published author. Originally an urban planner, she writes extensively on architecture, design, arts, and craft in Asia.

Écriture No. 160119
2016 | Mixed Media with Korean Hanji paper on canvas

Park Seo-Bo

ÉCRITURE

EDITED BY ROSA MARIA FALVO

TEXTS BY LEE JIN JOO AND

ROSA MARIA FALVO

This is the definitive monograph on the “godfather” of Korean contemporary art, master painter Park Seo-Bo, also the founder of Korea’s Dansaekhwa movement.

Park Seo-Bo was born in 1931, in Yecheon, Gyeongbuk, South Korea, as part of a generation that was deeply affected by the Korean War (1950–1953). While in Paris in 1961, he initially experimented with Western abstraction. Returning to Korea, he began exploring a more introspective methodology based on Taoist and Buddhist philosophies, as well as traditional Korean calligraphy.

Park is best known for his “Écriture” series of paintings. Beginning in the late 1960s, this lifelong work encapsulates his deeply spiritual approach, which is inextricably linked to notions of time, space, and materiality. Park began his practice using recurrent pencil lines incised into a monochromatic freshly painted surface. He later developed this language by applying hanji (traditional Korean handmade mulberry paper), to the surface of his canvases. Along with very precise introductions of color, this transformed his practice while continuing his quest for achieving “emptiness” through a meticulous process of reduction.

Beautifully showcased in this seminal book, Park’s masterworks embody the core philosophy of contemplative mark-making. Evoking the natural landscapes and scenery of his motherland, Park’s keen sensibility for colors, shapes, and textures traces the memories of his childhood through to his invaluable artistic and educational legacies for Korea.

Rosa Maria Falvo is an acclaimed writer, editor, and curator, specializing in Asia-Pacific and Middle Eastern contemporary art, based in Melbourne and Milan. Lee Jin Joo is an award-winning writer and essayist in Korea, and former news reporter who has published several books on education, literature, media, science, and feminism.

Lalan

TEXTS BY VÉRONIQUE BERGEN,
CATHERINE KWAI, ZHAO JIALING,
JEAN-MICHEL BEURDELEY, AND
RAPHAËL DUPOUY

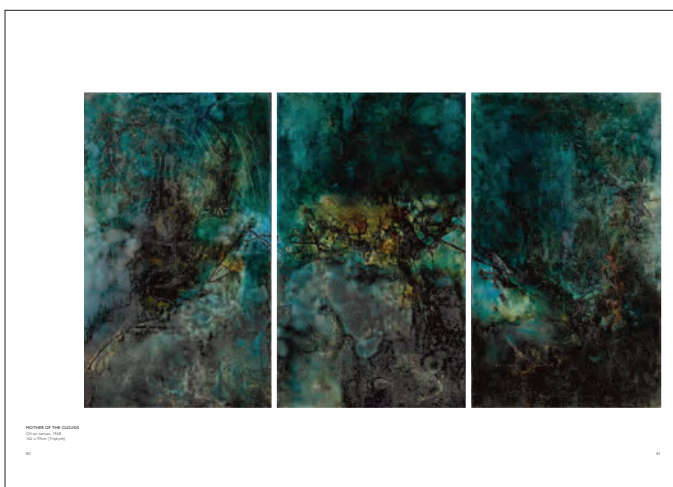

This volume is considered the most comprehensive monograph about the life and career of the female pioneer who integrated abstract painting, music, and dance, Lalan.

Born in Guizhou, Xie Jinglan (nicknamed “Lalan”) was a multidisciplinary artist trained across various art forms, including painting, music, and dance. Excelling in all such categories, Lalan united these fields in her artistic practice to create an oeuvre that epitomized “synthesized art.” Her lifelong explorations resulted in an unusual kind of exhibition/performance named Spectacle, which assimilates dance and music within her artworks. Her works can be found in important Western and Asian museums, such as the Centre Pompidou Musée National d’Art Moderne, and Musée d’Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris, Shanghai Art Museum, and others.

This book reviews her entire career by selecting her most representative masterpieces and celebrating her life journey as the backdrop, between dream and drama. The materials in this book have been collected by a dedicated research team through a painstaking process lasting more than two years.

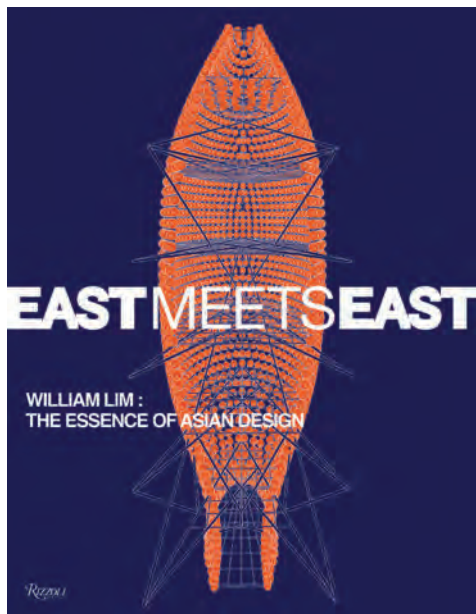

Lalan’s paintings are a melting pot of many important features inspired by traditional Chinese culture on the one hand (including the spirit of Taoism, the practice of qigong, and the essence of ink landscapes during the Song Dynasty), and Western abstract painting on the other.

Lalan studied music, dance, and art and produced works combining all three disciplines from the 1960s onward. Véronique Bergen is a philosopher, novelist, poet, and author of monographs and articles on contemporary artists.

WILLIAM LIM: THE ESSENCE OF ASIAN DESIGN

TEXTS BY CATHERINE SHAW
CONTRIBUTIONS BY ARIC CHEN,
LARS NITTVÉ, AND LYNDON NERI

Drawing on the work of artist and architect William Lim, this book offers a new, enlightened perspective on what Asian design means today.

Exploring design works ranging from furniture and temporary art installations to interior design and architecture by CL3, founded by William Lim, and related studios Lim + Lu and Open UU, this book presents a fresh consideration of the essence of contemporary Asian design and how it has evolved over the past few decades.

The projects selected share a sensitivity to Asian qualities: a deep appreciation of site and context, craft, and design details, with imaginative architectural responses delivering a reinterpretation of cultural heritage and traditions.

The book includes a contextual essay by Hong Kong-based architecture critic and author Catherine Shaw, a foreword by architecture and design curator Aric Chen, and a chapter dedicated to conversations on the modern interpretation of Eastern aesthetics and the unique experience of designing for a new Asia between William Lim; Swedish museum director, art critic, and writer Lars Nittvé; and Shanghai-based architect Lyndon Neri.

The projects are presented in a clear, vibrant graphic style designed by William Lim and artist and graphic designer Stanley Wong, aka another mountainman, to evoke an Asian quality. Each chapter includes a text by William Lim and features original conceptual sketches, photographs, floor plans, and drawings.

Catherine Shaw is an independent architecture, design, and art critic and published author. Originally an urban planner, she writes extensively on architecture, design, arts, and craft in Asia.

The first comprehensive monograph on the life and career of the Filipino artist Andres Barrioquinto, a rising star of the contemporary Southeast Asian art scene.

The volume deals with the complex universe of the artist (born Manila, 1975), who combines elements deriving from the iconography and aesthetic of Baroque with Japanese woodcuts (ukiyo-e), reinterpreted in a Pop style. In his paintings, men, women, and anthropomorphic animals are shown in forests plentiful with butterflies and birds, which introduce the theme of vanitas in a context of strong visual impact.

ENCOUNTERS IN CUSCO, PERU

GABRIEL BARRETO BENTÍN

FOREWORD BY RUVEN AFANADOR

Peruvian photographer Gabriel Barreto Bentín celebrates the notions of what it means to be Andino. Much like the Humans of New York for the people and indigenous culture of Peru.

In collaboration with Peruvian anthropologist Francesco D'Angelo, Gabriel Barreto Bentín offers an intimate portrait of the Andean society of Cusco, Peru. This socio-anthropological, photographic study offers a unique perspective on the Andino people, exploring narratives of spatial modernity and social hierarchies, challenging the commonly portrayed clichéd romantic versions of indigenous people pictured against breathtaking landscapes devoid of social context. Bentín travelled to Cusco and the Sacred Valley to photograph locals against white backgrounds, focusing on how they dress for different types of work and occasions. The images portray the diversity of the Andean people through their faces and attire, irrespective of the landscape. The portraits are accompanied by observations by neighbors from nearby communities—interviews that explicitly guide the reader through the articulation of modernity in the Andean society of Cusco.

Gabriel Barreto Bentín is a New York City-based Peruvian fashion and portrait photographer. He recently graduated from the School of Visual Arts, Class of 2020, with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Photography & Video. Ruven Afanador is a Colombian-born photographer best known for his photographic portraits in Torero (2001) and Mil Besos (Rizzoli, 2009).

IDOLS AND ICONS

DEMETRIO PAPARONI

The first extensive monograph dedicated to the artist Rafael Megall, whose work is strongly interwoven with Armenian recent history.

This illustrated volume highlights the rich personality of the Armenian painter Rafael Megall (born 1983), his connection with the artistic tradition of his country, and the peculiar language inspired by the story of his people. The book offers a panorama of his production, among others: the famous "icons," paintings on wood first showcased at the 57th Venice Biennale; the installation The Artist and His Mother, showcased at the National Gallery of Armenia, one of the most powerful artworks dedicated to the Armenian genocide, and the unpublished series of portraits dedicated to Lev Tolstoy.

Demetrio Paparoni is an Italian art critic and writer, curator and essayist. Among his publications and monographs, often revealing the contemporary Asian world, are Ronald Ventura, Works 1998–2017 (2018), Nyoman Masriadi: Telepathy Contact (2020), and The Devil: A Visual History (2017).

THE ART LIBRARY: DISCOVERING ARAB ARTISTS

CURATED BY MONA KHAZINDAR AND MISK ART INSTITUTE

The third and fourth volume of “The Art Library,” pioneering series of slipcases initiated by the Misk Art Institute to provide a comprehensive panorama of Saudi and Arab visual artists.

These exquisitely designed volumes offer an informal yet richly detailed introduction to the most prominent figures of Arab art. The slipcased set, available both in English and Arabic editions, contains two books, each dedicated to a Saudi and a non-Saudi artist.

Lulwah Al Homoud is a Saudi Arabian contemporary artist. Drawing on traditional Islamic and Western art, her work explores calligraphy and mathematical processes. Her work is distinguished by her use of complex Arabic letters to construct abstract yet technical works on paper.

Rafa Nasiri is a contemporary Iraqi painter, print-maker, educator and author whose work combines an abstract reflection on Arabic calligraphy, poetry, and Chinese art. His use of color and line resonates with the aesthetics of the Hurufiyya movement and abstract expressionism.

Lulwah Al Homoud and Rafa Nasiri illustrate the vitality and continuous renewal of the art of script and calligraphy in the Arab world. The two artists are from different generations, and their works represent two different genres that are both influenced, inspired, and rooted in Arab artistic culture.

Art historian Mona Khazindar is an expert in modern and contemporary Arab visual arts. Formerly director general of the Institut du monde arabe, and curator of a large number of exhibitions, Khazindar is the author of Visions from Abroad, Historical and Contemporary Representations of Arabia (Skira, 2019). Misk Art Institute is Saudi Arabia's leading nonprofit cultural organization that empowers local artists through an interconnected ecosystem of support, expertise, and education.

Future Drops

FROM SNEAKERS TO AR

ELIZABETH SEMMELHACK

Shoe design is pushing the boundaries of what is possible in both the real and virtual worlds through state-of-the-art technologies, groundbreaking materials, and new and innovative ways of thinking about what a shoe can be.

New modes of making and innovations in materials are inspiring shoe designers to challenge what shoes can look and feel like. This book explores today's most futuristic footwear designs, from the use of new technologies such as 3-D printing and smart technology to the invention of sustainable materials, including "leather" made from mushrooms and soles made from reclaimed ocean plastics. It also examines footwear design in the virtual world where adherence to things like comfort and gravity are no longer part of the equation. The importance of sneakers in games such as Grand Theft Auto and Fortnite are explored as is the new enthusiasm for collectable non-fungible token (NFT) sneakers that are being acquired for tens of thousands of dollars for a single pair.

In-depth interviews with of-the-moment designers, including Iris van Herpen, the team at RTFKT, Steven Smith, Eric Avar, Alexander Taylor, and more, all conducted by the author, dive deep into the creative process, influences, and the future of shoe design. The introduction offers an overview of great footwear innovations from the past that have kept us a step ahead.

Elizabeth Semmelhack is an acclaimed shoe historian and director and senior curator of the Bata Shoe Museum.

This painting, hanging in the Private Dining Room, was long thought to be a portrait of Mary, Queen of Scots by the Italian painter Federico Zuccaro. It was used by the English Richard Boscawen as the model for his own portrait, commissioned by the sixth Duke, Frederick, in 1701. The Duke's Queen Mary II is shown in a long, flowing gown, and the portrait is a masterpiece of Baroque portraiture. SEVEN SCENES FROM THE LIFE OF AN ENGLISH COUNTRY HOUSE

JOHN-PAUL STONARD
FOREWORD BY THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF DEVONSHIRE; PHOTOGRAPHY BY VICTORIA HELY-HUTCHINSON

This stunning volume provides an enchanting visit to one of the most storied and beautiful English country houses.

No place embodies the spirit of the English country house better than Chatsworth. From best-selling books such as Georgiana: Duchess of Devonshire and Chatsworth: The House by Deborah Mitford, the late Dowager Duchess of Devonshire, American audiences have long been transfixed by this remarkable place and its extraordinary collection of art and decorative objects.

Today, Chatsworth's facade is newly cleaned and its windows freshly gilded. The forward-looking current Duke of Devonshire, who likes to say that "everything was new once," has redone the public and private rooms. This tour-de-force volume is his telling of the story of Chatsworth through seven historical periods accompanied by stunning photographic portraits of the house, its collections, and the grounds.

Chatsworth contains countless treasures from Nicolas Poussin's Et in Arcadia Ego and Antonio Canova's Endymion to seminal modern works by Lucian Freud and David Hockney. Though filled with works from different time periods, the collection represents the very best of the "new" from each artistic era.

John-Paul Stonard is an art historian educated at the Courtauld Institute of Art and contributes to the London Review of Books and Times Literary Supplement. The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire reside at Chatsworth, home to the family since 1549. Victoria Hely-Hutchinson is a photographer whose work has appeared in Dazed & Confused, New York, the New Yorker, Vanity Fair, Vogue, and the Wall Street Journal Magazine.

Beatrix Potter

DRAWN TO NATURE

EDITED BY ANNEMARIE BILCLOUGH
CONTRIBUTIONS BY RICHARD FORTEY,
SARA GLENN, EMMA LAWS, LIZ HUNTER
MACFARLANE, JAMES REBANKS, AND LUCY SHAW

This beautiful book explores the beloved writer's achievements as a storyteller, artist, and naturalist.

Beatrix Potter's universe of characters—Peter Rabbit, Squirrel Nutkin, Jemima Puddleduck—have delighted audiences for over a century. A creative pioneer and determined entrepreneur, she combined scientific observation with imaginative storytelling to create some of the world's best-loved children's books. This volume showcases Potter's charming characters against the backdrop of her exquisite botanical drawings, humorous illustrated letters to friends, Lake District landscapes, and rarely seen photographs.

Beatrix Potter's endearingly hand-painted world of animals and gardens made her one of the most celebrated children's book authors of all time, yet this is but one facet of her creative life. Drawn to the picturesque English countryside after a London childhood, Potter had a passion for nature that influenced her many achievements as a naturalist, artist, storyteller, and later in life as a fervent conservationist and "gentlewoman" farmer. This book sheds light upon the connections between her art, entrepreneurial success, and legacy in preservation.

Monuments Man

THE MISSION TO SAVE VERMEERS, REMBRANDTS, AND DA VINCI'S FROM THE NAZIS' GRASP

JAMES J. RORIMER WITH LOUIS RORIMER
AND ANNE RORIMER
FOREWORD BY LYNN NICHOLAS

A classic now back in print and enriched with new imagery, James J. Rorimer's riveting first-hand account takes readers on a treasure hunt as he follows the Allied troops across France and Germany to save Nazi-stolen masterpieces of art.

James J. Rorimer, former director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, became a leading figure in the art recovery unit known as the Monuments Men, an elite group imbedded in the US Army, who risked their lives during World War II to save Europe's greatest artworks from Hitler's grasp. In the film Monuments Men, Matt Damon's character is based on Rorimer as he embarks on the world's most dangerous real-life hunt for stolen artworks with the goal of locating, seizing, and returning the works to their original holders, including museums and private collectors.

This new edition of a book first published in 1950 includes the original illustrations from the first edition plus a wealth of new imagery and ephemera uncovered during extensive research, including WWII photographs, many taken by Rorimer himself, that are accompanied by gorgeous reproductions of many of the Old Masters Rorimer helped save by artists such as Rembrandt, Leonardo da Vinci, Bruegel, Vermeer, Goya, Velazquez, and van Eyck. Maps created specially for this volume, and other facts about WWII history and geography, add new dimension to a remarkable story of courage, perseverance, and ultimately, triumph.

James J. Rorimer was curator at the Metropolitan Museum of Art until 1955 when he was made director of the museum, a position he held until his death in 1966. Anne Rorimer, daughter of the author, is an art consultant and an author. Louis Rorimer, son of the author, is a lawyer by profession. Lynn Nicholas is author of The Rape of Europa (1995), winner of the National Book Critics Circle Award.

Julia Morgan

THE ROAD TO SAN SIMEON, VISIONARY ARCHITECT OF THE CALIFORNIA RENAISSANCE

ESSAYS BY GORDON FUGLIE,
JEFFREY T. TILMAN, KAREN MCNEILL,
JOHANNA KAHN, ELIZABETH MCMILLIAN,
KIRBY WILLIAM BROWN, AND
VICTORIA KASTNER

Julia Morgan was a pioneering woman architect, best known for Hearst Castle, in the vanguard of Beaux-Arts design and style in the first half of the twentieth century.

Julia Morgan was truly a pioneer of her time—among other accomplishments, she was the first woman architect to be licensed in California, in 1904. Through her remarkable life and legacy, this book celebrates the Beaux-Arts architecture of California. Focusing on Morgan's most famous project in the state, Hearst Castle, to which she devoted more than 30 years of her life, this volume also examines, for the first time, Morgan's fabulous early buildings in the style. Morgan designed more than 700 buildings across California, many of which are designated landmarks today. Deepening the reader's understanding of California architecture, this book also places into context Morgan's ambitions, her influences and inspirations, as well as her daily practice and challenges as a woman shaping an extraordinarily prolific and highly successful career in a man's world.

To better understand the Beaux-Arts training Morgan underwent in Paris, the reader is taken through the challenging, highly arduous Ecole des Beaux-Arts curriculum, which Morgan completed, a lone woman among men. Also explored, in detail, is the story of how the studio and kilns of California Faience, a Berkeley ceramic artisan's shop, became the supplier of tens of thousands of tiles designed by Morgan and overseen by Hearst himself to decorate their architectural masterpiece overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

Gordon Fuglie is a guest curator of exhibitions, exhibition juror, art history lecturer, writer, and project developer with a focus on the historical and contemporary legacy of California.

MODERN LIGHT

DAVID BRODY, THOMAS DENENBERG,
KATIE WOOD KIRCHHOFF,
ALEXANDER NEMEROV, NANCIE RAVENEL,
AND RICHARD SAUNDERS

A revelatory look at this Italian-American modernist painter of highly realistic and romanticized still lifes, landscapes, and portraits drawn from his life in the gay New York scene and rural Vermont.

This first comprehensive survey of the life and work of Luigi Lucioni (1900–1988) places him in the context of fellow Regionalist painters Grant Wood, Charles Sheeler, and Maxfield Parrish. Lucioni is known for meticulously rendered still lifes, landscapes, and arresting portraits drawn from his close-knit circle of queer New York artists and cultural figures, including Paul Cadmus, Jared French, George Platt Lynes, and Lincoln Kirstein. In the early 1930s, Lucioni discovered Vermont, whose landscapes reminded him of northern Italy. It was there that he met Electra Havemeyer Webb, who was to become his single most important patron. For more than 50 years, the New York City-based artist spent every summer painting landscapes of trees, barns, and buildings in Vermont with sharply observed realism and a cool, precise style.

Key scholars examine Lucioni's oeuvre, materials, techniques, and his role in American modernism.

Alex Katz: Dance and Theater

THE ART OF PERFORMANCE

DIANA TUIE

ESSAYS BY CHARLES L. REINHART, DAVID SALLE, AND JENNIFER TIPTON

Alex Katz's long-standing fascination with dance and collaborations with renowned writers and choreographers has yielded some of his most complex compositions.

Since Alex Katz first painted Paul Taylor in 1959, he has invited dancers to model for him. Dance, according to the artist, belongs to the same "long tradition of gestures" as painting. This publication is the first to examine the many decades of Katz's work for the stage, including the ways that he introduced tenets of postwar painting into theater and dance aesthetics.

Katz partnered with dancer and choreographer Paul Taylor on 15 productions for which Katz innovated with flat lighting, humorous obstacles, and framing mechanisms. His involvement with Taylor led to collaborations with other companies including Yoshiko Chuma, Laura Dean, William Dunas, and Parsons.

Among Katz's most celebrated sets is the ensemble of cutouts he created for Kenneth Koch's 1961 production, George Washington Crossing the Delaware. Katz heightened the absurdity of the Revolutionary War-inspired play with Pop-adjacent figures and props. This publication brings together paintings, sketches, costumes, photographs, film stills, and ephemera. Newly commissioned essays, unpublished materials, and major paintings provide an overview of Katz's working relationships with individual choreographers and shed new light on avant-garde collaborations in New York between the 1960s and 1980s.

Diana Tuite is the Katz Curator of Modern and Contemporary Art at the Colby College Museum of Art in Waterville, Maine. Charles L. Reinhart served as the longtime director of the American Dance Festival. David Salle is an American painter, printmaker, photographer, and stage designer. Jennifer Tipton is an award-winning American lighting designer.

Eamon Ore-Giron

COMPETING WITH LIGHTNING

MIRANDA LASH, C. ONDINE CHAVOYA,
AND JACE CLAYTON

The first book on artist, musician, and DJ Eamon Ore-Giron who mines the complex nature of Latinx identity, the history of the Americas, and the many legacies of abstraction in art.

Over the course of his career, Eamon Ore-Giron has examined the personal and historical ramifications of cultural hybridity. Raised in Tucson, Ore-Giron is inspired by his roots in the American Southwest, his visits to his father's hometown of Huancayo, Peru, and his time spent as a practicing artist in California and Mexico. This catalogue brings together for the first time three pivotal chapters in Ore-Giron's career: his Southwest and Peruvian-inspired figurative works from the 2000s; his paintings from the 2010s that engaged elements of both figuration and abstraction, including an ongoing series focused on Mesoamerican deities; and the sublime gold-based paintings from his recent "Infinite Regress" series.

Curator Miranda Lash, along with celebrated scholars C. Ondine Chavoya and Jace Clayton, explore Ore-Giron's approach to de-colonizing the medium of painting, his impact within the Los Angeles art scene, and his seminal work as a DJ who highlights the intersections between North and South American sound.

Miranda Lash is the Ellen Bruss Senior Curator at the Museum of Contemporary Art Denver. C. Ondine Chavoya is a Professor of Art History and Latina/o/x Studies at Williams College in Williamstown, Massachusetts. Jace Clayton is an artist and writer based in New York City, also known for his work as DJ /rupture.

Liza Lou

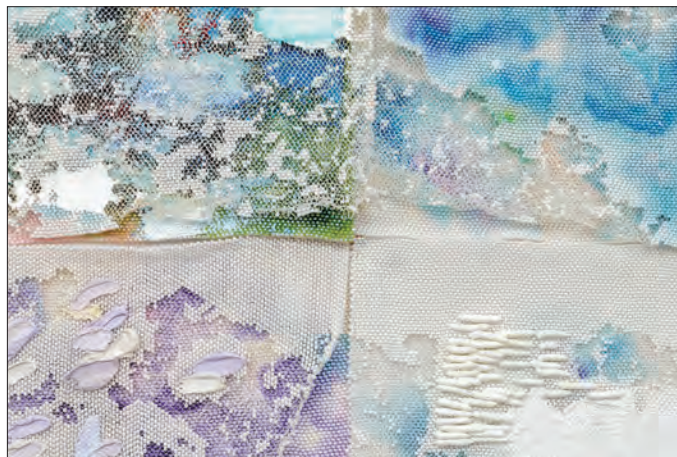

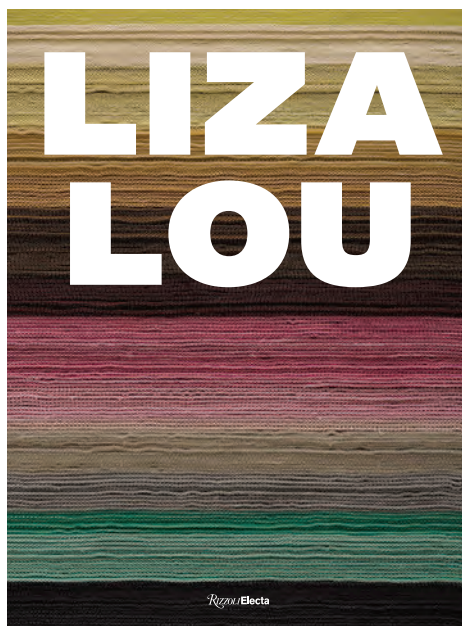

ESSAYS BY GLENN ADAMSON,
JULIA BRYAN-WILSON, CATHLEEN CHAFFEE,
AND ELISABETH SHERMAN
INTERVIEW WITH CARRIE MAE WEEMS

The most comprehensive book on the work of Liza Lou, whose popular and critically acclaimed installations made entirely of beads consider the important themes of women, community, and the valorization of labor.

Liza Lou first gained attention in 1996 when her room-sized sculpture Kitchen was shown at the New Museum in New York. Representing five years of individual labor, this groundbreaking work subverted standards of art by introducing glass beads as a fine art material. The project blurred the rigid boundary between fine art and craft, and established Lou's long-standing exploration of materiality, process, and beauty. Working within a craft métier has led the artist to work in a variety of socially engaged settings, from community groups in Los Angeles, to a collective she founded in Durban, South Africa in 2005, to a women's prison in Belm, Brazil, and a bead embroidery collective in Mumbai, India. Over the past 15 years, Lou has focused on a poetic approach to abstraction as a way to highlight the process underlying her work.

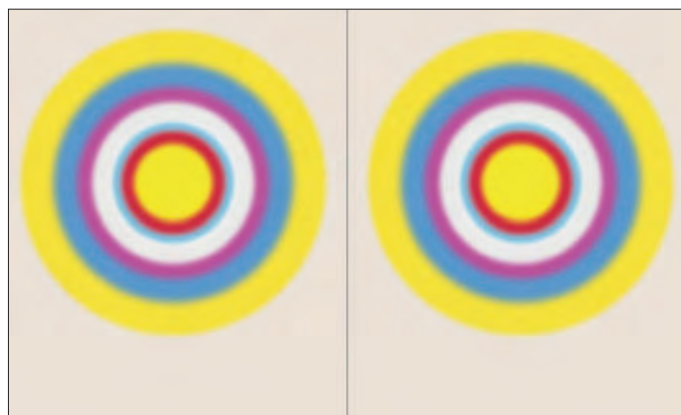

In this comprehensive volume that considers the entirety of her singular vision, curators, art historians, and artists offer important perspectives on the breadth of her work.

Glenn Adamson is a curator and writer who works at the intersection of craft, design history, and contemporary art. Julia Bryan-Wilson is professor of modern and contemporary art at the University of California, Berkeley. Dr. Cathleen Chaffee is chief curator of the Albright-Knox Art Gallery, Buffalo. Elisabeth Sherman is assistant curator at the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York. Carrie Mae Weems is an artist.

Ugo Rondinone

THE SUN

BOB NICKAS

Ugo Rondinone's Sun paintings are reproduced at unprecedented scale in a display-worthy elephant folio, published in a signed limited edition of 250 copies.

New York-based, Swiss-born conceptual artist Ugo Rondinone's Sun paintings are among his most celebrated series. Begun in 1992 and spanning three decades, the Sun works reflect Rondinone's interests in nineteenth-century German Romanticism and Tibetan mysticism as vehicles to explore natural phenomena and interior states. Rondinone began the Sun series by directing his gaze inward (a counterpoint to his contemporaneous plein air works), translating his emotional state to circular bands of watercolor on paper. To create distance between these diaristic studies and the viewer, Rondinone then altered the media and scale: expanding the Suns to more than seven feet in diameter and exchanging tremulous watercolor for seamless airbrush. Maintaining a consistent form and naming strategy—the German date of the work—Rondinone cycled through more than 370 color combinations, ranging from strong contrasts to barely perceptible shifts.

Sometimes referred to as mandala works, the Sun paintings fill the viewer's field of vision with pulsing color. At 19 × 22 inches, this elephant folio creates an intense optical experience at close range. Complete with reproductions of all 219 large works and 154 smaller canvases and prints, Ugo Rondinone: The Sun is the most comprehensive source on the series to date.

Bob Nickas is a writer and curator based in New York. He has organized over 120 exhibitions since 1984. He served as a curatorial advisor at MoMA/PS1 between 2004 and 2007 and on the teams for the 2003 Biennale de Lyon and Greater New York 2005 at MoMA/PS1. He was founding editor of Index magazine. His books include Painting Abstraction: New Elements in Abstract Painting and four collections of writing and interviews.

Accompanied by a traveling exhibition, this book on the Bahamian artist's textile portraits serves as a love letter to Black women: their style, resilience, strength, and beauty.

This debut of the 29-year-old artist aims to redefine the often-politicized Black body, with portraits made in a range of textile-based techniques, such as embroidery and appliqué, celebrating strong Black women.

Gio Swaby's intimate portraits are unique, highly personal figurative works made from an array of colorful fabrics and intricate, freehand lines of thread on canvas that explore the intersections of Blackness and womanhood. Illustrated with 60 works in full color that span from 2017 to 2021, this is the first book on this contemporary feminist artist who is a rising star in the world of textiles and portraiture. According to Swaby, "I wanted to create a space where we could see ourselves reflected in a moment of joy, celebrated without expectations, without connected stereotypes."

Writers and scholars with multiple points of view take on Swaby's work and delve into her place within the context of contemporary Black art.

Africa

THE FASHION CONTINENT

EMMANUELLE COURRÈGES

Gain new perspective on the vibrant and innovative world of contemporary African fashion design, bursting with fresh creativity and free from reductive stereotypes.

From the runway in Lagos and music festivals in Casablanca or Nairobi, to the “image makers” of Marrakech and the influencers of Dakar or Accra, a new generation of African fashion designers, photographers, bloggers, and hair and makeup artists are redefining the aesthetic contours of the continent. Audacious, humorous, disruptive, and innovative are the bywords of these young creatives who, while drawing upon and revalorizing their heritage, offer a new, ultra-contemporary perspective on fashion today. A creative revolution is spreading in an extension of continental revindication through cultural reappropriation and the invention of a visual language.

Characters straight from Ghanaian Asafo flags chant modern slogans as they march across silk dresses, traditional textile prints give power back to women, and Xhosa beaded embroidery serves as an inspiration for modern knitwear. Body-artists transform themselves into platforms for activism, and photographers—using clothing and finery—question identity, gender, and environment. Urban neighborhoods are reframed in a new light through the lens of ubiquitous smartphones.

This volume celebrates a creative, effervescent generation, which—by breaking the rules and rewriting the narrative of the African continent—is inventing a new and resolutely African chapter in the history of fashion that is now resonating across the globe.

Emmanuelle Courrèges is an independent journalist; she has contributed to Elle, Marie Claire, l'Express Styles, and Vogue Italia. She was born and raised in western Africa (Cameron, Senegal, and the Ivory Coast), where she lived for twenty years. She founded LAGO54, a platform to support and promote contemporary African fashion designers in France.

Countryfication

THE FRENCH ART OF COMING HOME TO NATURE

GESA HANSEN, ESTELLE MARANDON,
CHARLOTTE HUGUET
PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEPHANIE FÜSSENICH
AND NATHALIE MOHADJER

The call of the wild has never looked as stylish as in these homes nestled in the French countryside, crafted by families pursuing a new form of country living.

A manor next to an elegant seventeenth-century castle in a picturesque village, a restored four-hundred-year-old windmill, or a ruin in the Barbizon forest transformed into a contemporary timber house—our trio of authors saw the potential in these rural homes and took the leap into a life rhythm by nature. But how did these urban dwellers step away from the glamour of Paris, and why haven't they looked back?

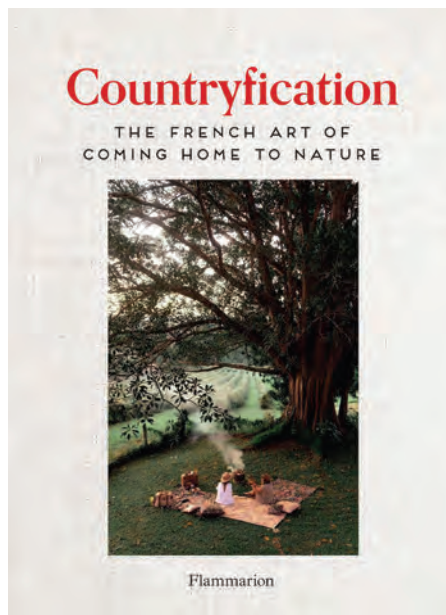

A calmer life enriched by its surroundings, with more space at home, a burgeoning garden, and a relaxed ambiance is a seductive combination. But a country house is different from a cozy apartment, just steps from modern conveniences. In their search for a deeper experience, they embarked on a long-term project that required planning and effort, but it brought unexpected joy along with the challenges.

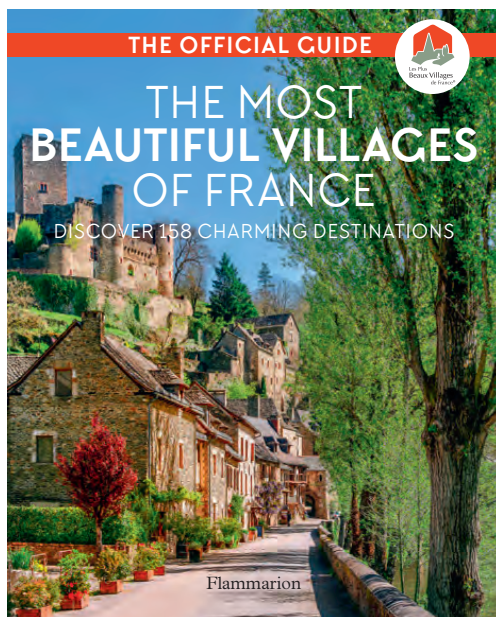

Life in the countryside takes adjustment and there is much to be learned—from furnishing and organizing your home to getting the most from nature and your garden, and from dressing to suit your new setting to hosting relaxed soirées where you'll linger over dinner with your guests. This is the art of countryfication. Alongside portraits of similar-minded individuals and families who have adopted country living, this book provides insight, practical advice, and recipes that celebrate life in the countryside, all while retaining a Parisian flair.

Gesa Hansen is a furniture and interior designer. Estelle Marandon is a lifestyle journalist. Charlotte Huguet is a stylist. Stephanie Füssenich and Nathalie Mohadjer are lifestyle photographers.

Paris: Capital of Guerlain

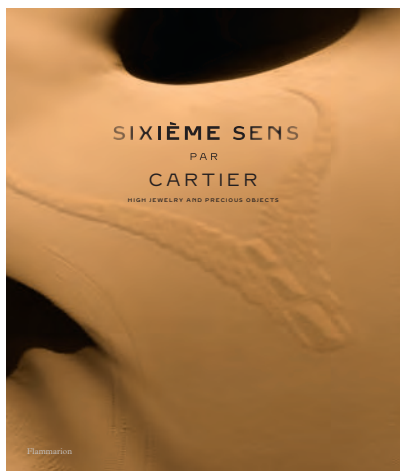

LAURENCE BENAÏM

The history of the quintessential Parisian perfumer Guerlain both influenced and was shaped by Parisian life, savoir faire, and culture.

The house of Guerlain is a Parisian institution. Guerlain aficionados—from royalty and empresses, to celebrities, writers, and artists—have been featured in novels, song lyrics, movies, and artistic creations, all while exemplifying Parisian savoir faire and luxury. The Guerlain headquarters and laboratory on the rue de Rivoli in the heart of Paris feature a new scent laboratory and a rose garden, intrinsically binding the famous house to the city of light, which it so perfectly captures in each bottle of perfume.

Traveling through two centuries of history at Guerlain, this book highlights the inextricable links between the house and the city: Guerlain changed Parisian life with its cosmetics and perfumes, yet could have existed nowhere else but in Paris. Guerlain's creations, especially its perfumes, are put into historical and cultural context through a combination of interviews, images, and portraits of the people and products that played a role in the house's story. This celebration of Guerlain, the quintessential Parisian perfumer, combines fashion, Parisian life and savoir faire, history, and the essence of beauty.

Laurence Benaïm has written many books including Fashion and Versailles (Flammarion, 2018) and Lancel: Parisian Maison since 1876 (Flammarion, 2016). She created the style supplement for Le Monde, contributed to Vogue and Marie Claire, and is an editorial advisor for Le Figaro.

Le Grand Hotel & Le Café de la Paix

LAURE VERCHÈRE

Discover the plush elegance of the Grand Hotel and Café de la Paix—a hub of cultural and café society elegance since 1862.

Conjured up during Baron Haussmann's extensive urban renewal program in the nineteenth century, and freshly renovated by master designer Pierre-Yves Rochon, the Grand Hotel and its Café de la Paix occupy a choice location among the Parisian facades surrounding Paris's Opera Garnier. This bilingual edition retraces the history of the Belle Époque palace with its 458 rooms and suites, where visitors from all over the world meet under the glass roof of its winter garden. The Café de la Paix safeguards its authenticity by serving up iconic recipes—from the famed onion soup to the flaky mille-feuille—on the celebrated terrace that overlooks the boulevard des Capucines. In 1904, the Grand Hôtel's head barman Franck Newman invented the original dry martini as a tribute to avant-garde actress Sarah Bernhardt, a regular guest. The café has been a meeting-place for notables from Oscar Wilde to Ernest Hemingway, Marlene Dietrich to Ines de la Fressange, and John Travolta to President Bill Clinton.

Blending architecture, history, and timeless luxury, this volume celebrates the hotel and café that were at the epicenter of the most cherished era in Parisian history.

Laure Verchère was a journalist for Elle Décoration and has written many books, including Signed Sybille de Margerie: Bespoke Interiors (Flammarion, 2020).

THE HÔTEL DE LA MARINE RESTORED

JÉRÔME HANOVER AND GABRIEL BAURET

PHOTOGRAPHY BY AMBROISE TÉZENAS

This volume goes behind the scenes to reveal the history and metamorphosis of the Hôtel de la Marine, a treasure of Parisian heritage.

The Hôtel de la Marine, an exemplary monument on Paris's Place de la Concorde, is a superb architectural achievement constructed in the eighteenth century by Ange-Jacques Gabriel, the official architect of King Louis XV. The institution it housed was charged with choosing, purchasing, and maintaining all of the king's furniture—from beds to the simplest chair—and the crown's treasures were stored here until 1789, after which it became the site of the Ministry of the Navy for more than two hundred years.

An extensive four-year restoration was completed in 2021; the building reopened to the public, and features a museum, conserved apartments that highlight the tastes of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, an exhibition hall, a bookshop, and three restaurants. Previously unpublished photography captures the splendor and majesty of the monument.

Jérôme Hanover is a fashion and luxury journalist; he regularly writes for Vogue Paris, GQ, and Le Figaro, and contributed to Dior in Bloom (Flammarion, 2020). Gabriel Bauret is a photography historian, independent curator, and author. Ambroise Tézenas's photographs have been published in Presidential Residences in France (Flammarion, 2021), Be My Guest (Flammarion, 2020), and Beijing: Theatre of the People (2006), which won a best European book of photography prize. His work has been exhibited all over Europe and Asia.

HEART CHAKRA

Love • Compassion • Connection

Overview: The heart chakra is the fourth chakra in our energetic system. It is the bridge between the lower physical chakras, which relate to us and who we are on this planet, and the upper spiritual ones, which go beyond the physical realm. It is located exactly where you think it would be – the centre of the chest – and is beautifully, wonderfully all about love. How we love ourselves, others and the world around us.

Sanskrit Name
Anahata Anahata translates to 'unstruck', and references the idea of the unstruck sound, the cosmic force always vibrating within us, that we can only truly hear when we are able to quieten the body and the mind. It is also loosely translated to 'unhurt', which is an incredibly powerful way to think about our heart chakra.

Anahata is our heart centre. It governs how we love. The love we give ourselves, the love we give others, the love we receive. It is the centre for love in all its capacities – romantic, platonic, familial, divine and beyond. Love can spark incredible transformation – an emotional plane that extends beyond our physical existence. It is no mistake that our heart chakra is represented by an ever-vibrant diamond that becomes our life force when we take it in through our breath. Love is also something we cannot truly live without. Compassion, kindness, forgiveness and empathy are all lessons of anahata. And its reign goes further than the love we have for those in our lives. The heart chakra is the bridge between our material and spiritual worlds, between our physical consciousness and a higher one. It reveals the unity inherent in our very existence. We are all connected – one love – to one another, to the earth and to every living thing on it. The heart chakra teaches us to live in that truth.

Late-night Tokyo

MIDNIGHT SNACKS, THINGS ON STICKS, FRIED GOODNESS, RAMEN + (MORE) COCKTAILS

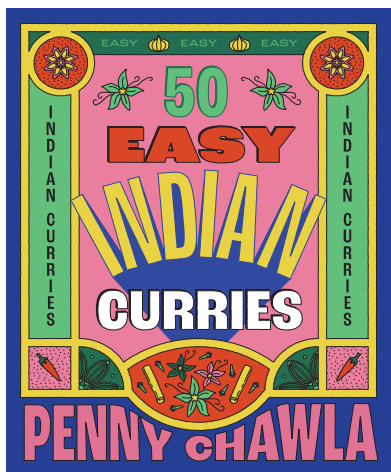

CARYN LIEW & BRENDAN LIEW

Eat the streets after midnight.

As the sun sets behind Mount Fuji, the neon lights of Tokyo flicker to life: izakayas, restaurants, and bars fill; beer, umeshu, highballs, and sake are raised to cheers, and the scent and sounds of nightlife fill the air. Tokyo's night scene is fun, boisterous, and lively. This is where locals shake off a long day, often staying out till the last trains leave the city.

Late-night Tokyo is your guide through the night, from the lamp-lit streets to menu-plastered walls, where a Japanese smorgasbord is on offer: sake and beer snacks (think burdock chips and grilled ginkgo nuts) to sashimi and sake- or saikyo miso-grilled fish, karaage (fried chicken), and yakitori. Start with a beverage and head out to stall-lined alleyways, with bubbling pots of soy glaze, or the tachigui with their sushi and barbecued meat, and enjoy a final stop with a train station's udon or a libation at a tucked away bar till the wee hours.

Caryn Liew & Brendan Liew set up their pop-up Japanese café, chotto, in 2016, bringing the art of traditional ryokan-style breakfasts to the Australian city of Melbourne. Head chef Brendan Liew spent time at the three-Michelin-starred Nihonryori Ryugin and studied the art of ramen before delving into kappo and modern kaiseki cuisine. Together, they have travelled extensively through Japan.

Lentil lovers in southern India, meanwhile, create soups that are both spicy and sour, thanks to the tamarind fruit.

EVERY LAST CRUMB

A MODERN COOK'S GUIDE TO USING YOUR LOAF

James Ramsden

A collection of 80 thrifty, delicious dishes designed to make the most of bread, minimize food waste, and incite creativity

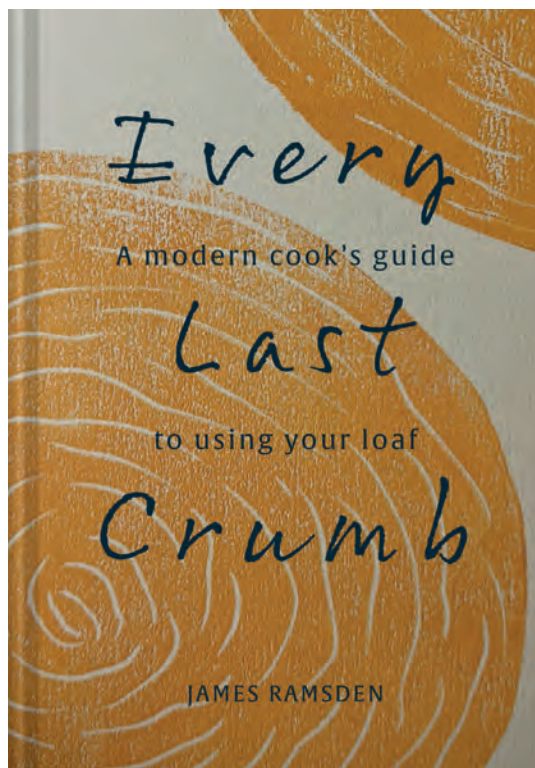

Inspired by the traditional cookbooks of yesteryear, Every Last Crumb fuses old-fashioned culinary resourcefulness with a modern palette to create a wonderfully giftable book, filled with bold and beautiful line drawings and with a zero-waste mentality at its core.

Comprising approximately 80 recipes, the book takes us through the five-day life cycle of the loaf. Each chapter offers a range of recipes to make the most of leftovers in the most delicious way, from classic sandwiches and bread and butter pudding, to brown bread ice cream and even fermented rye bread beer. With many people having recently rediscovered the joy of baking, this is the modern antidote to reducing waste, using the whole loaf and a little culinary ingenuity.

James Ramsden's previous cookbooks include Let's Do Dinner and Do-Ahead Christmas. As one of the founders of the supper club movement, he transformed his own, the Secret Larder, into a bricks and mortar restaurant—Pidgin—winning a Michelin star in 2016. He also runs Sons + Daughters, an eclectic sandwich shop in London, and hosts the cult food podcast, The Kitchen Is On Fire, chatting to weekly guests including Dolly Alderton, James Norton, and Fergus Henderson.

THE VAN LIFE COOKBOOK

DELICIOUS, PRACTICAL RECIPES
FOR LIFE IN SMALL SPACES

Danny Jack & Hailee Kukura

Maximize time outdoors, minimize time in supermarkets, and eat more thriftily with this mindful approach to cooking on the road, featuring 80 versatile recipes

Going beyond recipes that can be made on a 2-ring gas hob, this book is about an approach to cooking that saves money and time, is good for health, and finds the best from the immediate environment. Digging below the surface and looking past the convenience of the supermarket, takeouts, and fast food, there's a whole world of independent producers waiting to be discovered.

The idea of this book came about in the summer of 2020 when husband and wife duo Danny and Hailee put the finishing touches to their campervan toward the end of the nationwide UK lockdown. When work dried up in the kitchen, the van provided an essential space for them to escape to nature. By telling their story and sharing helpful hints of what worked and what didn't, they hope to inspire others. Danny is a chef who built a kitchen on wheels, but the same principles also apply to kitchens on boats or cabins.

Danny Jack began working as a chef in restaurant kitchens rooted in the Anglo-French tradition, in particular The Dogs, in Edinburgh. After relocating to London, he branched out beyond the restaurant environment, hosting his own events and catering to London weddings.

Hailee Kukura is originally from the small San Juan island community in the Pacific Northwest of America. She moved to Scotland to study at the University of Edinburgh. Now living in London, she is a project manager for the V&A museum.

THE HAPPY VAGINA

AN EMPOWERING GUIDE TO UNDERSTANDING YOUR BODY

Mika Simmons

In a world where the vagina is still, too frequently, considered taboo, this book aims to entertain, educate and enlighten its readers

Mika Simmons (host and founder of the popular Happy Vagina podcast) rightly believes the taboo that surrounds talking about intimate health and pleasure is problematic and can lead to a whole host of health issues. Her aim is to smash this stigma for women, and men, by shining a light on the unique and sometimes awkward facts about everything gynecological, allowing a more open dialogue for all.

The book tracks vaginas right through history—from the hysterics of the Victorian era, where semen was thought to have healing properties for women of a nervous disposition, to the modern-day suggestion by actress Gwyneth Paltrow that women give their vaginas a steam “facial.” Covering everything from masturbation, pubic hair, orgasms, contraception, body positivity, and period poverty, this book offers everything women want to know and might be too afraid to ask. Mika’s approachable and witty text is accompanied by punchy, colorful illustrations.

Mika Simmons co-created The Lady Garden Foundation, one of the world’s leading gynecological charities, which has earned endorsements from celebrities including Cara Delevingne, Margot Robbie, and Naomi Campbell. She is advising the UK government on closing the gender health gap and is a co-founder of community support project Mental Health Mates. She has discussed every aspect of women’s sexual health and experiences on her popular podcast The Happy Vagina.

THE TRAIN HAPPY JOURNAL

30 DAYS TO KICK START YOUR INTUITIVE MOVEMENT JOURNEY

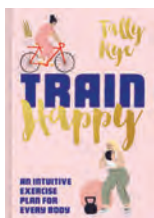

Tally Rye

“Tally Rye is the kind of woman that makes you want to throw on your gym kit and get fit.”
Daily Telegraph

Personal trainer and broadcaster Tally Rye is one of the key figures in the global intuitive fitness movement. In her first book, Train Happy, she encouraged us to change the way we think about exercise, teaching us to approach movement with a mindset of self-care rather than self-punishment and, in doing so, to rediscover the joy in eating and moving more mindfully.

This companion book builds upon the core principles of intuitive movement, from self-care, body acceptance, and body positivity, to intuitive eating, with interactive exercises and journal prompts to help us reflect upon our relationship with fitness, think about how it has been influenced by diet culture and, ultimately, make us feel good about moving our bodies. Colorful illustrations and expert advice accompany inspiring quotes and testimonies from a cross section of representational voices.

Tally Rye is an author, podcaster and personal trainer working one-to-one with clients in central London and at DigMe Fitness clubs. She co-founded the Girl Gains empowerment group with Zanna van Dijk and Victoria Spence to help educate, empower and inspire women to feel good about themselves inside and out. Together, they are also hosts of the BBC 5 Live podcast Fit and Fearless.

THE JOY OF WEEDS

A CELEBRATION OF WILD PLANTS

Paul Farrell

A colorfully illustrated field guide to weeds around the world, and why we should love rather than loathe them

One person's weed is another's wild beauty. The intolerance of weeds is a mark of how we have turned our backs on nature and urbanized our land and lives. In this enlightening survey, illustrator Paul Farrell reveals the true wonder of weeds and explains the benefits of rewilding ourselves a little.

Paul's brilliant modernist illustration style shows us dandelions, thistles, and feverfew in a whole new light. Each of the 50 weeds featured is accompanied by a quirky history and a summary of its uses in medicine, cooking, arts, and even industry, alongside occasional gardening tips. Foraging and growing your own food is becoming increasingly popular and this guide helps us to make the most of the plants that grow without any help at all.

Paul Farrell is a graphic artist, illustrator, and printmaker based in Newport, Wales. He is the author of Great Britain in Color, Build A Castle and Build A Skyscraper. He is represented by art galleries and retailers throughout the British Isles and overseas, including the Conran Shop in London and Paul Smith in New York.

WILD WORDS

A COLLECTION OF WORDS FROM AROUND THE WORLD THAT
DESCRIBE HAPPENINGS IN NATURE

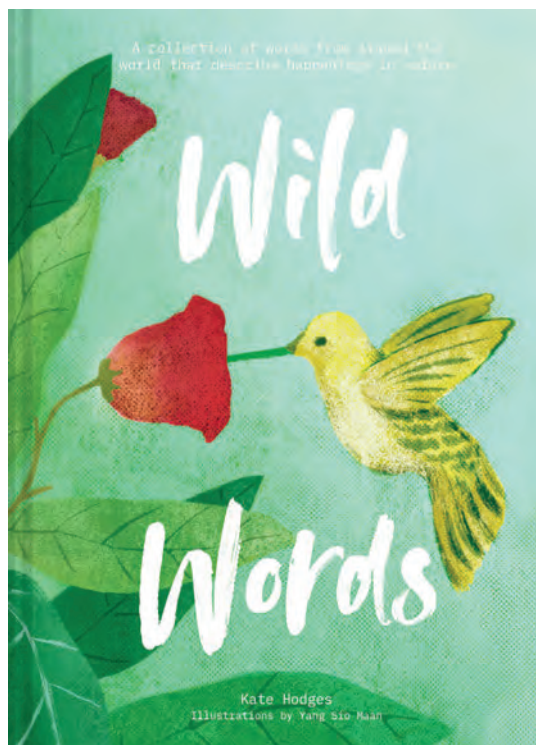

Kate Hodges

An illustrated celebration of 75 beautiful words from many different languages, each evocative of the wild and describing a natural phenomenon

The words used to express what is seen in the world are vital to an appreciation of it—language is a key component in the call of the wild. As words vanish from a language, it follows that what they describe may disappear. Words deepen understanding of what is seen, and what is seen comes more vividly to life through the words used to describe it. As the natural world and the time spent in it diminish in the face of modern life, it's more vital than ever to recall it into being with the magic of language.

Each word in the book is paired with an illustration and has a description which includes pronunciation, geographical, historical, and cultural background, as well as reflecting on the emotional or mindful response the natural phenomenon can inspire.

Kate Hodges has over 25 years' writing experience on magazines and currently writes part-time for The Green Parent magazine. She is also the author of Little London; London in an Hour; Rural London; I Know A Woman; Warriors, Witches, Women and On A Starry Night.

Van Gogh and Britain

CAROL JACOBI

Fifty of Vincent van Gogh's celebrated paintings reveal the influences of British art and literature on his early career as well as his impact on British artists.

Vincent van Gogh, the postimpressionist painter, remains among the most influential figures in the history of Western art. While much has been written on van Gogh, there is little scholarship on his early 20s, a period in which his artistic identity took form in London, England.

Van Gogh and Britain follows the painter from his first exposure to British culture in the 1870s, when he lived in south London, to his influence on British art as he achieved iconic status in the 1950s. This book reveals the British ideas, books, paintings, and prints that caught the unknown van Gogh's attention, in turn informing both his ideals and his practical investigations of a radical, egalitarian style. Even after moving to France, van Gogh's preoccupation with British art and literature remains visible in his dramatically original late works, including major pictures such as The Bedroom and Van Gogh's Chair.

Carol Jacobi is Curator British Art, 1850–1915 at the Tate Britain.

Renoir: Father and Son

PAINTING AND CINEMA

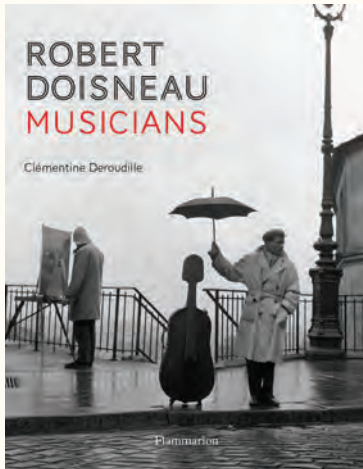

SYLVIE PATRY, ANNE DISTEL, AUGUSTIN DE BUTLER,
JANET BERGSTROM, AND OLIVIER CURCHOD

Beloved impressionist painter Pierre-Auguste Renoir left a vibrant legacy that influenced the life and films of his son, the acclaimed director Jean Renoir.

The impressionist paintings of Pierre-Auguste Renoir are characterized by portraits and lively episodes from daily life. These joyful scenes influenced the life and work of his son, filmmaker Jean Renoir, who Orson Welles described as “the greatest of all directors.”

This catalogue—and the traveling exhibition it accompanies—demonstrates how Pierre-Auguste Renoir's artistic practice and creative universe influenced Jean's art, and how Jean's films shed new light on his father's paintings. Focusing on leitmotifs in both artists' works, this volume commingles paintings, drawings, films, costumes, photographs, and ceramics. Contributions from the Barnes Foundation, the Musée d'Orsay, and the Cinémathèque Française provide in-depth insight.

Sylvie Patry is Deputy Director for Curatorial Affairs and Collections at the Musée d'Orsay in Paris and consulting curator at the Barnes Foundation. She co-organized the Renoir: Father and Son, Painting and Cinema exhibition at the Barnes (2018) and Musée d'Orsay (2019).

Ed Hardy: Deeper than Skin

ART OF THE NEW TATTOO

KARIN BREUER

CONTRIBUTIONS BY SHERRY FOWLER, JEFF GUNDERSON,
ED HARDY, AND JOEL SELVIN

Legendary American tattoo artist Ed Hardy's groundbreaking tattoos, flash, drawings, and artworks are gathered together for the first time in one brash book.

Ed Hardy's (b. 1945) unique vision spans decades, creating an indelible mark on popular culture. Accompanying a major exhibition, this profusely illustrated survey of his life in art traces his inspirations, rooted both in traditional American tattooing of the first half of the twentieth century and in the imagery of Japan's ukiyo-e era. After attending the San Francisco Art Institute in the 1960s, he rejected a graduate fellowship from Yale to apprentice at studios up and down the West Coast. It was his intention to rescue tattooing from its "outsider" status and elevate it to the level of folk art. Hardy's success at breathing new life into the art form is chronicled in a plethora of tattoo designs, paintings, drawings, prints, and three-dimensional work spanning 50 years.

Karin Breuer is the curator in charge of the Achenbach Foundation of Graphic Arts at the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco. Sherry Fowler is an art historian specializing in Japanese Buddhist art at the University of Kansas. Jeff Gunderson is librarian and archivist at the San Francisco Art Institute. Don Ed Hardy is a legend in the tattoo world. Joel Selvin is a San Francisco-based music critic and author.
